New Protests Planned

Saigon Police Halt Buddhist Efforts for Strike in Schools

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Police headed off a Buddhist attempt to spark a strike in the city's high schools today as the religious leaders kept up their campaign to oust Premier Tran Van Huong. Police briefly detained 10 youths from one school after stopping them from entering another school to get support for a strike.

Officers said the group intended to visit more schools with their strike call.

School strikes were a favorite weapon of the Buddhists in their campaign against the late President Ngo Dinh Diem last year. They tried the tactic against Huong last month, but the premier closed the schools and broke up demonstrations and riots with troops and police.

A 24-hour hunger strike by 500 Buddhist monks and nuns ended today and Buddhist leaders met to outline new protest plans.

More Projects Announced

Industry Welcomed to Johnson's Poverty War

WASHINGTON (AP) — The head of the Johnson administration's war on poverty has welcomed the participation of private industry and invited more.

Sargent Shriver, director of the Office of Economic Opportunity, took the step Wednesday after the White House had released the second major batch of projects in the antipoverty war.

Included in the $82.6-million package was a New Jersey Job Corps training center to be operated by a subsidiary of International Telephone & Telegraph Co. for a possible fee of $540,000.

At a news conference Shriver said, "I hope that a large amount of participation by private industry will develop over the months ahead."

The urban Job Corps training center at Camp Kilmer, N.J. was one of three announced. The other two, at Tonque Point Naval Station, Ore., and Camp Gary, Tex., will be operated by nonprofit organizations.

The White House announcement also contained 13 sites in 15 states for the smaller rural job training centers. They are in addition to 41 sites announced in late November.

In all, antipoverty program officials said, about 150 rural centers to train 100 to 200 youths in basic job skills and rudimentary education are planned. They hope to have about 10 urban area centers, for 1,000 or more youths, in operation by next June.

3 Poverty Grants for Wisconsin Northern Part Of State to Have Training Project

WASHINGTON (AP) — A job corps training center in northern Wisconsin and two projects in Milwaukee were among the war on poverty programs announced Wednesday.

Grants for Wisconsin will provide: A job corps center in the Chequamegon National Forest, 22 miles southwest of Mellen in Bayfield County, for the training of 100 to 200 volunteer young men who are out of school, lack education and work skills but want to improve.

A program of intensive family case work among the poor in Milwaukee to be financed by a grant of $312,565 to finance planning by the Social Development Commission of Greater Milwaukee.

An adult basic education allotment of $260,028 to the University of Wisconsin, Marquette University, Milwaukee Institute of Technology, Alverno College, Milwaukee School of Engineering, Mount Mary College and the Layton School of Art.

Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., said two more Wisconsin job corps camps, to be located on Indian reservations, are expected to be announced soon.

Bayfield Unit The camps, such as the Bayfield County unit at Clam Lake, will include a number of projects. They include the construction of 43 camping units at the Little Clam Lake and Chippewa Lake camp sites, the building of a bathing beach, access roads, parking areas, waysides, and foot trails to reduce fire hazards.

The volunteers, between the ages of 16 and 21, will stay about a year with a maximum of two years.

New Rumors Develop On Cabinet Changes

McCone, Chief of CIA, May be Next to Resign

BY STERLING F. GREEN (AP) — Strong indications that John A. McCone New York, and a longtime friend and adviser of the President, will resign shortly as director of the Central Intelligence Agency, developed today along with a fresh flurry of speculation about Cabinet turnover.

McCone

McCone's return to private life would open another high-level post for President Johnson to fill as he begins his new administration. Cyrus R. Vance, deputy secretary of defense, has been mentioned in some government quarters as a possible successor for the CIA post.

Cabinet Choice Johnson made his first Cabinet choice Wednesday. He announced the resignation of Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges and named as his successor John T. Connor, 50, New Jersey drug manufacturer.

Connor

The announcement came on the heels of a report that Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon plans to resign within a few months.

A Republican but a strong Johnson supporter, Dillon's post has been vacant since the first of Kennedy's term.

Johnson reportedly would like to lure back into family's New York investment banking business. In October government his old friend and Johnson asked him to stay on as Washington attorney who was President Harry S. Truman's special counsel at the White House.

Speculation on Dillon's successor has fixed mainly on Douglas.

Other prospective shifts — confirmed neither by the White House nor by those directly involved — were said to include: —The departure — also within the next few months — of Secretary Anthony J. Celebrezze from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. Most frequently mentioned as a possible successor is Gov. Terry Sanford of North Carolina, whose term as governor ends in January.

—The resignation before Jan. 1 of John S. Gleason as veterans administrator. There are recurrent reports he is returning to the First National Bank of Chicago. He was vice president of the bank when he entered the government.

Pre-Winter Storm Numbs Northwest

High Winds Create Blizzard Conditions as Temperatures Drop to Minus 40 Degrees

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS (AP) — Unprecedented prewinter cold accompanied by lashing winds paralyzed the Northwest today, dropping temperatures far below zero and turning parts of storm-battered Montana into disaster areas.

Temperatures plunged to 40 below zero in some areas, and the U.S. Weather Bureau said the cold would last at least five more days. One reading Wednesday was —59 atop a mountain 24 miles Northeast of Lewistown, Mont.

The temperature was —10 and colder through most of the northern Plains and the cold weather was accompanied by blizzard conditions across the Dakotas. The arctic air spilled over the mountains into the normally mild Pacific coastal area.

The severe weather had strange and sometimes tragic effects. Eleven cattle stranded in deep snow at 10,000 feet above sea level west of Creede, Colo., were given tranquilizer shots, lashed securely to a helicopter and carried to lower levels.

In Bloomington, Ill., a 71-year-old woman died Wednesday of carbon monoxide poisoning when furnace fumes were backed into her home by a bird's nest blocking the chimney.

The Weather Bureau said the cold spell — "which has barely begun in the Northwest" — will spread into parts of Tennessee and Mississippi by the weekend. A spokesman advised motorists not to travel northwest of Minneapolis.

Disaster Area Wind-whipped snow and plummeting temperatures turned six Montana counties into disaster areas as severe blizzard conditions blasted the eastern third of the state.

Gov. Tim Babcock applied the disaster area designation to Powder River, Carter, Fallon, Prairie, Rosebud and Custer counties.

December records tumbled in Billings, Dillon, Great Falls, Livingston and Missoula. The temperature was —54 in the tiny community of Summit near the Glacier National Park. Great Falls had —34. Cut Bank —25, and Lewistown —26 Wednesday.

Marysville, a mining camp northwest of Helena, reported —40. The —59 reading was taken at an Air Force weather station.

Gas Line Snaps Sheer cold disrupted utility services. A temperature of —27 snapped a natural gas line which burst into flames south of Cody, Wyo., killing one man and severely burning another. Numerous homes were without heat as long as 5 hours.

The Pacific Northwest power system, with an unprecedented 6.2 million kilowatts load suffered many failures because of overdemand.

NATO Fails to Settle Nuclear Responsibility

U. S.-France Split Leaves American Concept for Study

PARIS (AP) — Ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization failed today to settle their differences on the sharing of nuclear responsibility, but agreed to keep on studying this complex problem.

The United States and French governments remained divided on this issue. But those same two governments look care to keep in close contact with each other.

The NATO ministers issued a communique at the close of their winter meeting which made this reference to the mixed-manned surface fleet concept:

"Ministers examined the problems confronting the alliance in the field of conventional and nuclear weapons. A thorough exchange of views on these problems took place and will be continued."

That left the whole American concept for bringing the Allies into a closer nuclear partnership subject to further talks and more study.

The NATO ministers agreed to continue seeking ways to ease East-West tensions and bring to realization "the legitimate aspirations of the German people" for reunification.

The alliance instructed its secretary-general, Manlio Brosnahan, to continue keeping a watch on the Cyprus problem which has brought Greece and Turkey, two NATO members, dangerously close to armed conflict.

The NATO ministers promised "to lose no opportunity of contributing to a reduction in tension and a peaceful, agreed and equitable solution of the problem of Cyprus."

Italians Fail to Elect Premier

ROME (AP) — The Italian Parliament failed today in a third ballot to elect a new president for Italy. On subsequent ballots only a simple majority is required for election, but no candidate has come close to getting even that.

A two-thirds majority, or 642 votes, was required for election on the first three ballots. The requirement now is 482.

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Deputy Foreign Minister Suwito Kusumowidagdo was reported today to have promised to comply with Communist demands to suspend activities of the United States Information Agency in Indonesia.

The official news agency Antara said the demands for closing the USIA were discussed between Suwito and a delegation of Youth Front, a Communist-influenced group.

New Look Into Universe

10 X-Ray Stars Are Discovered

BY ALTON BLAKESLEE (AP) — In two short years, scientists taking a new look into the universe have discovered 10 X-ray stars.

These are stars or clouds of gases that broadcast X-rays. Earth people need not worry — the rays are too soft to get through our atmosphere.

The X-ray stars were detected by special Geiger counters on rockets soaring up 100 miles high on quick-look flights. All 10 are within the Milky Way, our own great galaxy of 200 billion stars.

X-ray Stars Their positions imply that most X-ray stars are associated with supernovae — the brilliant, explosive death of stars. Dr. Herbert Friedman of the Naval Research Laboratory in Washington, D.C., said today.

Three of these X-ray sources may be elusive neutron stars, he told the second Texas Symposium on Relativistic Astrophysics at the University of Texas.

A supernova involves the explosion of outer gaseous portions of the star, and an imploded core, he said.

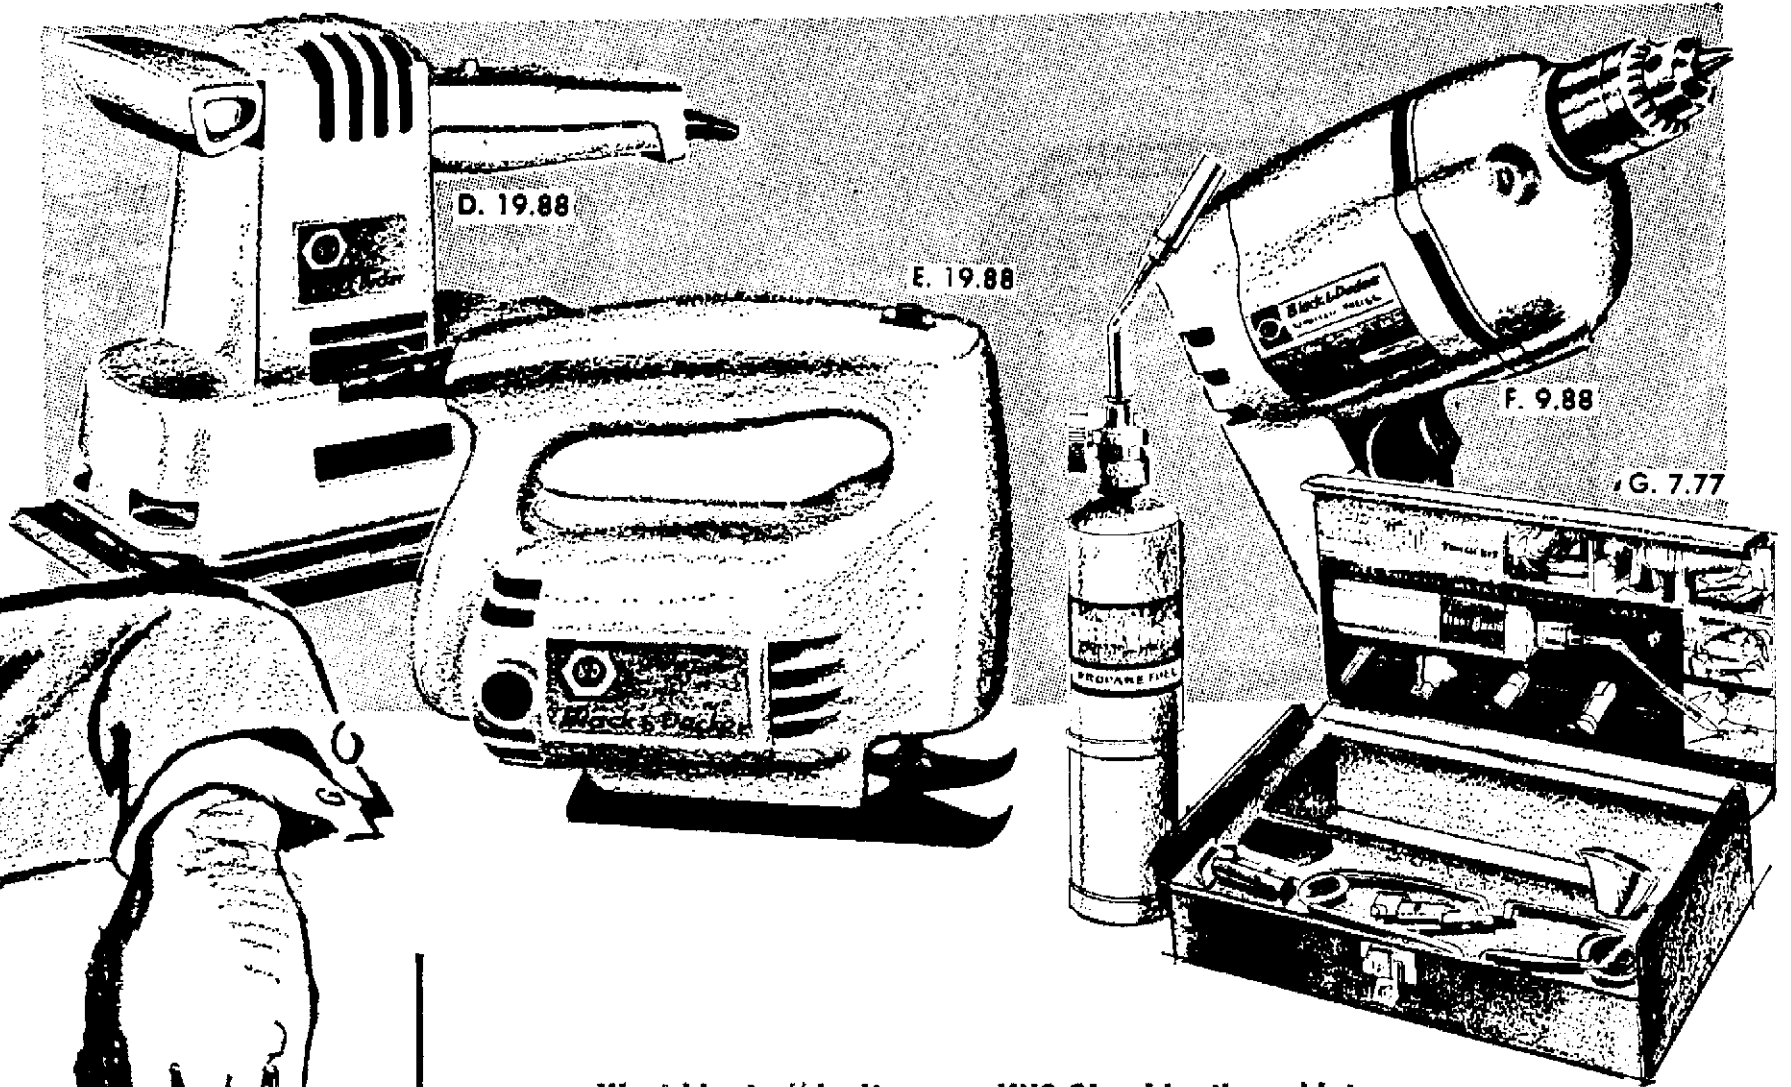

Collapsed Core Gravitational collapse of the X-rays. Now there is new evidence that they may cool rather, with a shell-shaped, radio-emitting neutron stars, he added. It resembles the Cygn

Death Ends Career of Philosopher Alex Meiklejohn Began Ill-Fated U of W Experiment

BERKELEY, Calif (AP) — The death Wednesday of Alexander Meiklejohn ended the career of one of America's leading philosophers and liberal educators.

Dr Meiklejohn 92 was stricken with virus pneumonia three days ago after he had enjoyed one of his walks in the Berkeley Hills.

He was bright spry, tireless and enjoying life almost until the very end, a friend said.

The former president of Amherst College had lived a life of intellectual turbulence brought him fame, honor and difficulties.

Freedom Medal

In December 1963 he was presented the presidential Medal of Freedom by President Johnson.

A native of England, he came to the United States at the age of 8 when his father James, established a business in Pawtucket, R.I.

He was graduated from Brown and Cornell universities and in 1897 joined the faculty in Brown's philosophy department. He was named associate professor in 1903 and full professor in 1906. He was serving as dean when he became president of Amherst in 1912.

His innovations at Amherst stirred up such a storm that the trustees asked him to resign in 1923. He had reshaped the curriculum to emphasize social sciences and put a student board in control of student conduct.

Dismissal Protested

Twelve seniors turned down their diplomas at graduation and eight faculty members quit in protest of the dismissal.

Meiklejohn moved on to the University of Wisconsin where he continued his experimentation as philosophy professor under Dr. Glenn Frank. They established the Experimental College in 1927, drew students from the lower classes and replaced lectures with conferences, lectures and discussion. Student and faculty lived together in what was designed to be a self-sufficient intellectual community.

The college, accused of fostering everything from Bolshevism to free love, closed after a few years.

State Guard Unit Faces Reduction

MILWAUKEE (AP) — An Army spokesman says the low priority assigned Wisconsin's 32nd National Guard Division would not be changed simply because the unit was brought up to full strength and intensified its training programs.

The 32nd faces a reduction to a brigade of between 3,000 and 5,000 men or possible elimination in a program of sweeping military manpower changes announced last week by Defense Secretary Robert McNamara.

He said the Army Reserve, including Wisconsin's 84th Division, would be eliminated but that some members would be absorbed into the streamlined National Guard.

May Gen John A. Dunlap, commander of the 32nd Wednesday urged intensified recruiting and training to get the unit up to a higher priority bracket in a battle for survival.

UW Third in Gifts, Grants

MADISON (AP) — The University of Wisconsin reported today that a study by a New York firm shows the school ranks third nationally among institutions of its kind in gift and grant support.

The survey, based on 1962-63 data supplied by the American Alumni Council and the Council on Financial Aid to Education, listed Wisconsin second in the amount of foundation support and seventh in support from its alumni.

Wisconsin's total voluntary support in 1962-63 was $8 million. The University of California led with $14 million.

Only California, with $4.6 million, led Wisconsin in support from foundations. Wisconsin's total was $4.1 million.

Wisconsin's seventh place in alumni giving was based on a total of $1 million.

Notre Dame Makes Points — in Courtroom

NEW YORK (AP) — Notre Dame accustomed to scoring points on the athletic field, made them in State Supreme Court here today.

The university won a temporary injunction against the showing of a new motion picture titled "John Goldfarb, Please Come Home," and further publication of the novel on which the film was based.

Supreme Court Justice Henry Jay Greenberg upheld the university's contention that the movie and novel "knowingly and illegally misappropriated the name, symbols and prestige of the institution and its football team."

Separate Financing

Health Care Opponent Mentions Compromise

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican Wilbur D. Mills, a major congressional opponent of President Johnson's health care plan, says he is prepared to support a program administered by Social Security, but separately financed.

Mills' views amounted to a rough sketch of a program for the aged different from the administration's Social Security plan but compatible enough with it to give every indication that a compromise could be reached.

Long Battle

If this should prove to be the case, the decade-long controversy in Congress over health care for the aged could be settled by mid-1965. The program is one of Johnson's principal legislative goals.

Mills, an Arkansas Democrat, is chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, which has been the graveyard of legislation for health care of the aged under Social Security.

He declined to speculate on what benefits might be provided under a plan of the kind he would favor or what its cost might be.

Increases Taxes

The cost would be met for Social Security retirees by increasing the pay roll tax now paid by both employers and employees and now used to provide old age disability and similar cash benefits.

The general Treasury would make a contribution to pay for care of old persons not covered by Social Security. No test of income or assets would be required.

Mills has consistently objected to making the Social Security revenues and trust funds as

Strike of Dockworkers Is Averted

NEW YORK (AP) — Agreement on a precedent-setting four-year contract has ended the threat of a weekend dock strike that would have tied up shipping in ports from Maine to Texas.

Negotiators for the International Longshoremen's Association and the New York Shipping Association came to terms Wednesday after five months of disagreement and a walkout halted by presidential intervention.

The ILA conceded one hard-fought point to reach a pact. It bowed to automation and agreed to cut the size of its standard 20-man work gangs down to 17 by 1967.

In return, union negotiators got an 80-cent an hour wage package, including a guaranteed annual wage estimated at minimum $5,856 a year for the average longshoreman.

The package, which includes more fringe benefits, longer vacations and pensions for widows, is expected to cost the shipping industry $94.5 million over the next four years, a spokesman said.

Ladysmith, the retiring chairman, was elected to the administrative committee and Judge John D. Kehoe, Green Bay, was elected to the executive committee.

Reservists Can Escape Drills In Merge Plan

Would be Moved To 'Man-Power' Ready Forces

WASHINGTON (AP) — There are 181,600 Army enlisted reservists who, if they wish, can escape regular drills throughout the year under the new plan to merge Reserve units into the National Guard, it was learned today.

These are men who have served from 4 to 10 months on active duty under a special program and have a remaining reserve training obligation of up to 6 years, minus the time they spent on active duty.

Such an out will not be available in the future to young men who sign up in this "reserve enlisted program" as an alternative to being drafted for two years of active service.

Drills, Camp

The practice has been for them to enlist in either a Reserve or Guard unit, take their 4 to 10 months of basic training, then return to civilian life where they have been obligated to drill weekly and to go to summer training camp for two weeks each year.

The new program announced by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara last weekend gives such enlisted reservists a way of avoiding weekly drills, although some of them would be liable for the yearly two weeks' summer training.

This is because defense officials have decreed that the National Guard, being expanded to a strength of 550,000 with the addition of about 150,000 reservists, shall be an all-volunteer force.

Manpower Pool

They have said that if a man does not want to accept service in a Guard unit, he could be transferred to a reserve manpower pool.

This pool now totals more than 453,000 officers and men who still have reserve obligations but do not drill and are not assigned to units. In effect, they are names on a list, subject to mobilization in an emergency.

Asked for a formal explanation of the way men in this Army Reserve enlisted group will be affected, the Defense Department said: "Under the new program they will be offered an opportunity wherever possible to join a National Guard unit."

"If this is not possible or if they do not choose to join a Guard unit, they will be assigned to the ready reserve mobilization reinforcement pool. Men in the pool will continue to have an obligation for annual military training or mobilization until their respective six-year obligation has been completed."

Argentina Hit By Strikes of Peron Followers

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Hard-core followers of dictator Juan D. Peron paralyzed Argentine industrial centers today in a showdown with President Arturo Illia's administration. The strike is scheduled to continue through Friday.

Strike leaders failed, however, in their avowed attempt to bring the country to standstill. Transportation workers, bank clerks, government and business employees refused to obey the order for a 48-hour nationwide walkout.

A wave of bombings rocked the greater Buenos Aires area early today. More than a dozen bombs were thrown at nonstriking buses, injuring four passengers. Police announced a score of arrests, including two labor leaders.

Police posted guards outside newspaper offices, telephone exchanges, power plants, radio and television stations and at other strategic spots. Riot squads patrolled cities to curb demonstrations.

Hard-core Peronist leaders, who dominate the General Confederation of Labor — CGT — organized the strike as a sign of displeasure with the government. They accuse the Illia administration of violating constitutional guarantees by smashing numerous rallies which the CGT called this month to protest unemployment and the high cost of living.

Tonsils and Adenoids Often 'Go' Together

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: When a child needs his tonsils removed, should the adenoids be taken out too? Our son has trouble with infected tonsils but he is no mouth breather, so I see no point in having his adenoids removed also. I understand that adenoids are there to give protection by screening out infectious germs.—MRS. L. F.

Tonsils and adenoids are removed at the same time so frequently that the operation is commonly referred to a "T. and most of the sense of feeling in them. It occurs even in summer when he goes in the water. What could be causing it?—MRS. C. M.

It could be a disturbance in the nervous system which controls circulation in the fingers. There is also an ailment called cryoglobulinemia (cry-oh-glob-u-lin-EE-me-a). Cells in the blood tend to clump together when exposed to the cold. There are special blood tests for this.

In either case, excessive use of tobacco is harmful. Treatment consists mainly of avoiding cold, dressing warmly, and sometimes medication to dilate the small capillary blood vessels.

NOTE TO F.C.: When water, soap or detergents bother your hands, and rubber gloves cause perspiration and hence irritation, the best answer I know is (a) to get rubber gloves with a cotton lining, or (b) get rubber gloves large enough so you can wear cotton gloves underneath.

Headaches! You can beat them. Write to Dr. Molner in care of the Post-Crescent for a copy of the booklet, "How To Tame Headaches." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Japan's New Monorail Is Called Success

Million Passengers Carried in First 65 Days Operation

TOKYO (AP) — Crawford McDonald, 24, an employee of a British airline, commutes to his job at Tokyo airport aboard this city's new monorail.

"Whether I go by taxi using the new freeway, or by monorail it takes about half an hour. But the monorail saves me $2.78 a day," MacDonald said. He used to spend $5.55 a day on taxis.

MacDonald, is among the few of Tokyo's airport's 12,000 workers who have adopted the monorail for regular commuting.

For the majority of the Japanese employees, 70-cent one-way fare is too high for regular commuting. The same distance—eight miles—can be covered by surface railway and bus for one-fifth the price.

Monorail Connection

The $54.5-million monorail connects the airport with Hamamatsucho, a mile from the inner city center, in 15 minutes. It carried one million passengers in its first 65 days of operation. This meant an average of 15,000 persons daily—with a maximum of 54,000—or half the number needed to make it pay.

Tetsuzo Inumaru is president of the Tokyo Monorail Co. and also of the Imperial Hotel. He considers the monorail a success. Inumaru said he observed that about half of the passengers taking domestic flights utilize the monorail.

Only rarely do foreign passengers arriving on international flights come into town aboard the monorail. This is because of the luggage problem which makes taxis more convenient.

Inumaru predicted that the new airport freeway will reach its peak capacity of 60,000 cars a day within three years and then the monorail's role will increase in importance.

"No transportation business in Japan makes money in the first three years," he said.

One reason for the relatively high monorail fare is that five miles of the line had to be built over Tokyo Bay. This involved costly drilling of more than 100 feet through soft mud to reach a hard foundation.

Under better topographical conditions, construction cost should be about one third to one sixth of what it costs to build a subway, officials say.

Intricate Sphere

More than 40,000 parts make up Nimbus, the new weather satellite.

Dr. Molner

A " or "tonsillectomy and adenoidectomy.

This is not arbitrary, however. It depends on whether both ought to come out.

Generally speaking, when tonsils are large enough or infected to a degree warranting removal, the adenoids will be, too. The adenoids are one of the five areas of tonsil tissue surrounding the nose and throat. They serve the same purpose as the tonsils at the back of the throat, and are subject to the same stresses.

If the adenoids show some infection, or some enlargement (even if not yet enough to obstruct the air passages and cause mouth breathing), there is a rather strong chance that they will become worse, and ultimately require removal, meaning that another operation will be necessary.

Ideal Opportunity

Therefore in most cases it is wise to take them both out at the same time. The doctor, when removing the tonsils, has an ideal opportunity to see and judge the condition of the adenoids. That is the best time to decide whether or not the adenoids should be removed.

In the occasional case in which tonsils are infected but the adenoids are perfectly healthy, then the latter can be left alone.

In short, my attitude on adenoids is exactly what it is on tonsils. Leave them alone unless they are enlarged or diseased—but when they are, the sooner they are removed, the better.

Dear Dr. Molner: A friend broke out with several clusters of boils, and was told by the medical department at the office that she has a staph infection and to see her doctor. To date she has not done so and is reluctant to go. Have you any literature on this infection? She says it is very painful.—H. H.

Literature isn't going to help her. Staph infections are serious, persistent, and contagious. She needs treatment by a physician for her own sake as well as for the safety of those around her.

Dear Dr. Molner: When my husband goes out in the cold his fingers turn white and he loses

Rinse Greens in Lukewarm Water

Does washing in water adequately remove chemicals from salad greens?

Salad greens have been thoroughly washed before they reach the grocers so chemicals will have been removed. But you'll want to wash greens again in lukewarm water. Using warm water gives a thorough cleaning and it won't wilt the greens. Rinse in cold water, drain and chill to crisp.

Here's How To Repair Sash Cord

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: How can I clean out a copper water heater coil?

A: Try boiling the coil in a solution of vinegar, using about a cupful in each gallon of water. After ten minutes or so, remove from the fire and allow the coil to stand in the solution overnight. Rinse thoroughly and allow to dry. Then try tapping it lightly with a wooden mallet. This may help loosen the scale, which you could then force through with a piece of wire.

Q: We had our TV set only two days when I put a holiday candle on top of it. The heat from the TV melted the candle bottom and orange dye penetrated the wood. Is there anything we could do that would remove the discoloration and not leave a white mark? The wood is walnut finish.

A: "Blemish-removing" preparations, in various popular wood colors, for use on furniture, are widely available at variety, hardware, housewares and some supermarket stores. Obtain one in the color of your TV set, and apply according to label instructions. This may be all that's needed. I hope so. Otherwise, the finish will have to be removed in the discolored area (fine steel wool or fine sandpaper) to bare wood. Then the discolored wood should be treated with a wood bleach, then restained and refinished to match the rest of the finish.

Q: I own a 35-year-old brick veneer duplex, with six rooms in each flat. I live downstairs. The hardwood floors squeak terribly. The upstairs floors have no nailed-down carpeting; my ceilings are all acoustic-tiled — but it does not help. Can anything be done upstairs without nails? Now that the heating season is here, the squeaking is worse. Does this make any sense?

A: This makes sense, as well as squeaks! The heating season dries out the floorboards, causing them to shrink, and rub against each other more. To cut down on the squeaking due to this rubbing of floorboards, a temporary solution is to squirt a non-oily lubricant, available at stores, or talcum powder, or powdered graphite between boards to reduce friction. will have to be replenished periodically.

Q: Does one get as much heat from a glass enclosure in front of a fireplace as with a screen? It seems to me a screen would throw out more heat, but one has a fire hazard from flying sparks. What do you suggest?

A: I suggest using a screen, rather than glass. Air circulates through the screening, affording better heat circulation. Fire screens are built with a mesh through which only an occasional rare spark will go.

Q: Is there an educated guess plan to locate a well in the basement? Should the well pipe be supported on a poured concrete base or set on bricks to prevent the over-cooking that or rocks with clearance at bottom for water inflow to the vertical electric motored pump? How much larger should the hole be excavated for a well pipe?

A: Location of well in basement highly inadvisable. Well should always be located outside the building to avoid complications or difficulties in drawing in pipes, etc. No support is necessary for the well pipe, the casing itself is in contact with the ground. However, the base around the well casing should be sealed to prevent entry of contaminated or foreign material into the well water. No hole is excavated, the casing is driven in or bored, so no question of larger size (or any

Use Silver Decor on 25th Anniversary

A silver wedding anniversary is a particularly happy time in the life of most couples. The stresses and strains of early married days are behind them, the children are generally pretty well grown, and the years ahead purport to be calm and peaceful.

A milestone such as this should be celebrated in a very festive fashion. A buffet supper is suggested as a suitable type of party for an occasion such as this. As a general rule, a variety of ages are on the guest list and a buffet makes service much simpler.

The buffet table is a beautiful setting for a stunning flower arrangement. A handsome centerpiece of white mums, carnations, and ivy is an ideal focal point for any table. The designer of a particularly attractive arrangement dusted the twining ivy leaves with silver paint to make them glow and glisten — and to carry out the silver wedding anniversary theme.

Add Silver Numbers

Also, with strands of flocked silver wire the numerals "25" were centered in the arrangement. The silver candelabra used to flank the arrangement also carried out the theme for a silver wedding anniversary.

The buffet supper may be given by the couple themselves if they prefer, or it may be hosted by their grown children. Sometimes a neighbor decides to give the party. Whoever the host is, the party should really be a gala one. In these days of frequent divorce, it is a great tribute to two people when they have weathered the sea of matrimony for a quarter of a century.

Whatever the choice of flowers, it is wise to consult your florist before a definite decision is reached. Flowers that are at the peak of their season are not only inclined to be more reasonable in price but tend also to be longer lasting. Fresh flowers, if properly cared for, will often last as long as a week before fading.

Baked Custard

Placing custard cups filled with a custard mixture in a pan of hot water in the oven ensures even baking and helps to prevent the over-cooking that curdles custard desserts.

Incidentally, be sure to have rigid type discharge pipe, to avoid torsion (twisting) due to water pressure and pump action.

Your Problems

Ann Helps Teen 'Scheme' For New Blue Gym Suit

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Two years ago, when I was eight years old and in the third grade, my mother bought me an ugly green gym suit. Three weeks ago the teacher announced in class that we all have to wear blue gym suits. When I told my mother I needed a new gym suit she said, "Your green suit is good enough. You can wear it until next year."

There are 1200 kids in our school, Ann Landers, and I am the only person wearing a green gym suit. It is not only horrible looking but it is very tight on me. Please help before I have a nervous breakdown over this thing. Thank you. — Miss Reggie

Dear Reggie: If the green suit is too tight it is bound to pop a seam soon — and I say the sooner the better.

Take the torn suit to your mother and volunteer to do extra chores for an extra allowance. Tell her you are willing to help pay for 50 per cent of the new gym suit and that you got the idea from me.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I've written this letter in my mind one hundred times since last Friday. Today I am putting it down on paper.

I've read about women who have had affairs with the husbands of their best friends. It always seemed so ugly — something only a cheap trollop would do. Well, I did just that, which makes me a cheap trollop, doesn't it?

I love my husband and children and I'd rather die than hurt them. The affair is over and it ended on a sour note, which is just as well, since I now see what a fool I was.

They say confession is good for the soul and my soul could use some repair work. Should I expunge my guilt by telling my husband? I feel this would do me a world of good. Yes or no? — Tortured

Dear Tortured: No one has the right to unburden himself at the expense of another person's peace of mind. This type of "confession," more often than not, is motivated by an unconscious wish to punish.

Confession is good for the soul, so go confess to someone who will not suffer because of your foolishness.

Pray silently. Talk to your clergyman or physician or lawyer. These individuals will treat your confession as privileged information and you will hurt no one.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Is it possible for a person to be "emotionally frigid?" This term may sound like parlor psychiatry, but I don't know how else to describe a male acquaintance who refuses to communicate.

The man is highly intelligent, in fact a bit of an egg-head. We've been going together for 16 months. At first I believed him to be thoughtful and quiet. Now I see our relationship resembles that of a couple of Trappist monks.

I've told him how I feel and he says he enjoys long periods of silence — that it is a sign of deep friendship when two people can just sit and hear a pin drop. He claims too many people feel they must keep a steady stream of conversation going as evidence that they are "good company."

Can a friendship become so "perfect" that people no longer need to speak to one another? What can one do in a case like this — other than writing to Ann Landers? — Cassio

Dear Cass: If you haven't been able to get a conversation going in 16 months, resign yourself, Lady. He just ain't gabby.

Find someone who operates on a conversational wavelength similar to your own and leave the sphinx to a gal who also enjoys hearing pins drop.

Liquor can ruin your mind, your body and your life. To learn the booby-traps of teenage drinking, write for Ann Landers' booklet, "Teenage Drinking," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope. (Copyright, 1964)

Salvation Army Theme, 'Others', Aids All Ages

What was the best Christmas health to give ourselves, our you ever spent? time, our interest. The wisdom of the ages handed down in a picture of an enormous turkey dinner, a house bursting with family and friends, the delight of squeals of a child who got just the doll or sled she wanted.

Getting seems enormously important to a child. With the coming of a little more maturity many grown-ups discover that giving is also important.

Modern psychologists tell us that it is essential to mental

Kettle In Evidence

Giving seems very natural at Christmas—and not only to our family and friends. Many people feel that Christmas isn't complete until they have put a few coins in The Salvation Army kettle, or mailed a check for a more substantial amount.

Sharing with others, via The Salvation Army, is particularly gratifying because you are assured that your Christmas gift will keep on giving 365 days a year. It helps all those in need—regardless of their religious beliefs, race, respectability, or lack of it. The social welfare ministry of the Army is as universal and never ending as the God the Salvationist seeks to serve by serving mankind.

Distribute Toys

Children are always high on the Army's Christmas list. Those in institutions receive not only gifts, but friendly visits. Toys, dolls and games by the thousands, some reconditioned, but most new, are placed under some child's Christmas tree.

And most important throughout the year, thousands of children receive serious sympathetic adult guidance as members of boys' or girls' clubs or Scout troops sponsored by The Salvation Army. There the children also learn something about the importance of giving. Consideration and service to others are an integral part of the activities. Many of the children receive music instruction at Army music camps or through membership in a band. And—as their proficiency increases—give pleasure to others by performing in public or perhaps pass on their musical knowledge to a still younger generation.

Maternity Homes

Unfortunate youngsters who are off to a poor start in life also come under Salvation Army care. Maternity homes and hospitals serve unmarried mothers. In one year over 20,000 unmarried mothers received counseling and aid. A boy who is in difficulty with the law may find that a Salvation Army officer is his "friend in court." Officers frequently serve as parole advisers, helping a boy or a man get back on his feet after being discharged from custody.

Many elderly ill, or shut-in people have their principal contact with the outside world through visits from Salvationists and volunteers who work together through the Army's League of Mercy. At Christmas time of course they are especially busy with carolling, tree-trimming and gift-wrapping. And these lonely or shut-in men and women are not forgotten during the rest of the year. The program of friendly visitation is essentially a year-round effort, made possible—to a large extent—through your generous contributions.

Family Services

The Salvation Army lays special stress on services to families. A check to a needy family

Ready to Marry for the 17th time is hotelman Glynn Wolfe, 51. The bride-to-be is De Merle Irene Rankin Wolfe, 19, who will be Wolfe's 15th wife. She divorced him three weeks ago, and then, like a predecessor, decided to marry him again. The couple is shown taking out a marriage license at Los Angeles. Wolfe said they plan to honeymoon at Disneyland. (AP Wirephoto) is a familiar and easy-to-understand way of helping.

However, long-term counseling and assistance are given by professionally trained caseworkers to families with serious and deep-rooted problems. They aim for a permanent solution—not just temporary relief of the immediate need. Families assisted include those where there is no breadwinner (or he is in an institution), families burdened by a member who is addicted to narcotics or alcohol, families with less dramatic problems such as continual bickering or indifference producing a tense and unpleasant atmosphere, families where truancy and lack of progress in school are characteristic of the children.

Aided Quake Victims

When a disaster strikes, The Salvation Army is usually first on the scene with its familiar coffee and doughnuts, soup and sandwiches—and more important—a word of spiritual comfort for the stricken or bereaved. This concern for the needs of the total man has been characteristic of The Salvation Army from its founding in 1865 through its notable service to victims of the Alaska earthquake in 1964.

There's a story they like to tell in The Salvation Army which sums up its philosophy of service and giving. General William Booth, founder of The Salvation Army, was pondering what message he could send to Salvationists throughout the world as a greeting, and to urge them on to greater deeds of service to God and man. He also considered the cost of sending a lengthy cablegram. Finally he summed up his thought in one word and cabled the message "Others."

problems. But there is a two-part routine that helps to control all of them:

Care Steps

1. In a small bowl, mix 2 tablespoons each of lemon juice, hydrogen peroxide, and lanolin skin oil. Massage onto backs of fresh-washed hands, paying special visits to stains, brown spots, knuckles and cuticles. Let set for ten minutes.

2. Warm ½ cup of lanolin oil and pour into a flat, glass baking dish. Immerse hands for several minutes. Pat away oil with tissue, wash and apply lotion.

In all, the treatment requires but fifteen minutes. So don't say you have no time for it. Take two or three before Christmas, and your hands will do you proud during the festivities.

Do you have a hand problem? Lovelier Hands covers every step in a quest for hand beauty. It tells how to keep the skin and nails groomed; how to overcome weak nails, polish chips, discolored knuckles, prominent veins, wrinkles; how to use the

Women Want 'In' on Flights To 'Wild Blue'

BY HAROLD R. WILLIAMS
HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Woman, not content with an almost complete conquest of man's world on earth, wants to help him conquer space.

Applications by the dozens are being received by the Manned Spacecraft Center from women scientists for one of the jobs being opened up for scientists-astronauts.

"We are not throwing out any applications just because they come from women," a space agency spokesman said today. "Being a man wasn't one of the requirements for the job."

"I don't know how many women have applied, but I do know it is a large number and many are still being considered. If there isn't a woman chosen, it won't be because of sex."

Want to Go

More than 900 persons have applied to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration for the 10 to 20 positions NASA will fill next year.

Of that number, 200 applications were tossed out because physical requirements were not met, the space agency said. Most of these were rejected because applicants wore glasses.

NASA said the objection to scientists wearing glasses was that pressure suit helmets and spectacles don't go together, and contact lenses are impractical in space flight.

Some other applications were rejected because they came from persons from foreign countries.

Scientist Volunteers

Almost every type of scientist has applied, ranging from doctors to botanists. However, the Manned Spacecraft Center said there was a "particular interest in receiving additional inquiries from the geological sciences."

Recruiting ends Dec. 31. Recommendations will be made by the National Academy of Sciences to NASA in the spring of 1965.

If a scientist can't fly, he or she will receive flight training in jet aircraft and helicopters.

To qualify, a scientist must be under 34 years old, a U.S. citizen and no taller than 6 feet, and must hold a bachelor's degree and a doctorate or the equivalent in experience.

At present the nation has 28 astronauts, all men.

machine was $140 plus $10 for taxes, or $150, and I paid him $10 down. The next payment was $10, which I paid. Then he turned the matter over to a loan company, to which I was to make payments, and they added $28 for carrying charges.

Now I did not buy or borrow from this loan company. Can they make me pay this extra charge? I am an old lady, 71 years old, with just a small check to get by on. Shouldn't these salesmen be stopped from going around and not telling people that the sales would be turned over to someone who would charge them more?
L.A.T., Birmingham, Ala.

Dear L.A.T.:

You know who can do the best job of making such salesmen toe the mark? Customers. Women like you — if you insist on having any agreement for the purchase of merchandise in writing. You don't mention whether you signed a written contract, but if you did it probably details these carrying charges. If you sign a contract without reading every word, you have only yourself to blame.

If your arrangement with this man was just a verbal one, you haven't any recourse. A dishonest salesman can just forget to explain that a carrying charge will be added if the merchandise is not paid for within 30 days. I sympathize with you, believe me — and with all the other women who write me about similar troubles with installment buying. That's why I keep on pleading with all of you: Get it in writing! Then read it before you sign.

The reason the salesman, or dealer, used a finance company, in your case is that he probably didn't have sufficient capital of his own to finance your monthly payments. If you purchase merchandise today on a monthly basis, you will more often than not find yourself paying N. Y. Print plainly name, add one of the 5,000 sales finance companies who buy up such contracts as yours. To avoid having to pay carrying charges, you have to arrange to pay on a cash basis, which is usually at the end of 30 days.

Dear Miss Feeley:
I would like to know if you think it's a good idea to pay off the mortgage on our home.

It cost us $10,000 when we bought it 15 years ago. The balance owed is now down to $4,800. We have a 25-year mortgage. My husband and I have asked several people — tried to telephone from Louisville — and they say no, don't pay off the mortgage. But they don't know why they say No!

Can you tell me why?
Mrs. L.P., New Castle, Del.

Dear Mrs. P.:
There are a couple of reasons for your friends to say no. The interest on your mortgage payments deductible on your income tax return. That makes it easier to put what cash you have to more diversified use. Since your mortgage was arranged 15 years ago, the interest charged would likely be 4 per cent. If you put that $4,800 into good investments, you can logically expect a return on your money greater than the amount of interest you're paying out.

In your particular case, your small mortgage at a low interest rate would not necessarily help if you want to sell the house within the next ten years as a prospective buyer would probably not be in a position to handle the transaction. It may be that your friends are assuming there's a larger mortgage, which would conceivably make the deal attractive to a new owner. However, if home ownership in itself is especially important to you, and you wouldn't welcome any investment risk at this time, then you might be happier to pay the mortgage off.

Interrupt Elephants Itchery Phone Calls in Africa

LOUISVILLE (AP) — Stewart Lancaster and his fiancée, Diana Vanthoogerhuys, ran into an unexpected obstacle when they tried to telephone from Louisville to her parents near Cape Town, South Africa.

Elephants, an operator told them, were causing a thunderous static that drowned their voices.

It seems the elephants like to scratch themselves on the telephone poles in Africa, causing the static. The callers gave up, then placed the call later without difficulty.

Enjoying Height Is Secret Of Attractive Tall Girls

BY BESS MYERSON

"How's the air up there?" (Lonesome.)

"Aren't you glad you're six inches taller than everyone else in your class?" (No.)

"What's wrong with being the last girl in line at graduation?" (Everything.)

"Mommy is that girl a giant?" (No comment.)

"You'll appreciate being tall when you get older." (It's now.)

Believe me, tall gals, and I'm five feet ten and have been since I was sixteen, you will love being tall a few years from now. Why not start enjoying it now? There is no one more attractive than a tall girl smartly dressed, well-groomed and obviously proud of her height.

Attitude Important
It's not the attitude that counts, it's the attitude.

The key word to remember is proportion. Everything you wear should be in proportion, and this includes your way of wearing your hair.

Your hairdo should be large enough for you, full and round. A tall girl with a very short, close to the head coiff gives herself a pinhead look. Do have your hair medium to long, turned either up or under for fullness at the sides. If your hair needs body for fullness give yourself a home permanent.

They are available today for every fashion look—smooth, slightly waved or curly. Your hair can be smooth and straight but still have lots of body with an uncurly permanent.

Set Off Height

Your wardrobe should dramatize your height without emphasizing it. Always see yourself in a three way, full length mirror before you buy clothes. The new thankful!

A-line skirts and dresses are more becoming than the straight and narrow look. Wear large, generous sweaters, not little bolero types or little nothings.
If you are the tall, slender type your dress selection should not present a problem. You can look as lovely in a well-cut sheath as in a full skirted ball gown. However, it is well to remember that dark colors have a slimming effect and should be avoided in a straight-line or form-fitting garment. Suits, two-piece dresses and tunics create a horizontal line which will shorten your overall appearance. So will a beautiful wide belt.

Contrast Accessories
Avoid long panels and V-necks. Do wear contrasting gloves, belt, shoes and hat. You can also afford large hats, large handbags, heavy jewelry and gay, bright colors.

If you are the tall, heavy type avoid frills and large, flowery prints. For you, dark tailored suits and simple sheath dresses will create the illusion of slimmer lines. Keep in mind that darker colors draw in while brighter colors enlarge. Very small hats, handbags and fragile looking shoes will, by contrast, exaggerate your proportions.

Jewelry should be large, not small. A petite girl cannot wear the stunning, dramatic pins and bracelets that are so smart on a tall girl. Choose pieces carefully, always wearing the dress you're accessorizing when you shop.

But most of all, don't waste your height in unhappy about being tall. It's a true blessing. Stand up straight and be thankful!

Burch, Halleck, Elections Topics of GOP Discussion

Hoosier Is Expected to Keep Job

BY WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Charles A. Halleck's continued rule as head of House Republicans seemed assured today as the party's depleted ranks went home after their first post-election conference.

The matter of whether the Indiana should be replaced as part of a move to give the party a new image wasn't even discussed at Wednesday's conference.

It could be brought up at the next scheduled meeting on the morning of Jan. 4, the day the new Congress convenes with the House Republican membership almost 40 votes short of what it now is.

Cling to Hope
Spokesmen for a group seeking a leadership change and to changes in leadership practices said privately there was no one now in sight with strength enough to challenge Halleck. But they clung to a hope that something might happen between now and January to change the outlook.

The decision on who will be floor leader in the new Congress will be made Jan. 4 along with decisions on some other matters discussed Wednesday.

Major unfinished action may be a move to have the Republican endorsement of the statement of Republican governors interpreted by many as a call for removal of Dean Burch as chairman of the Republican National son A. Rockefeller of New York Committee. Burch was the handpicked choice of Sen. Barry Goldwater, defeated GOP presidential nominee.

Statement Drafted
A statement calling for approval of the governors' position was drafted by a group of 20 moderate and liberal Republicans.

But Rep. Robert T. Stafford of Vermont, its sponsor, did not put it to a test when it became obvious that action would be blocked by lack of a quorum.

One resolution opposed the proposed change in rules to give the speaker power to determine whether bills approved by both standing committees but and 1961 as a possible national chairman. His name came up for 21 days could be put to a House vote.

An estimated 119 Republicans attended the conference, including about 18 who were defeated last month.

So harmonious was the session that Rep. Silvio O. Conte of Massachusetts likened it to the "Abigail Plimpton Sewing Society."

Bad Storm Soaks Hawaiian Islands

HONOLULU (AP) — Hawaii's worst storm of the season struck the islands of Oahu and Kauai Wednesday and a down-pour of several inches soaked Christmas shoppers and tourists.

Some streets in Waikiki were flooded, power lines were down on Oahu and streams burst their banks on the neighboring Kauai Island.

Up to an inch of rain each hour was being measured on both islands, the U.S. Weather Bureau said, and more was predicted for today.

Ray Bliss, Ohio, May Replace GOP Chairman

Receiving Strong Backing for Party National Chief

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ray Bliss, who prefers backstage shadows to the spotlight, seemed today to have some strong backing as a compromise choice for Republican national chairman.

Bliss, typically, wasn't talking. But other reports indicated that if Dean Burch resigns or is ousted when the 132 GOP national committeemen meet in Chicago Jan. 22-23, Bliss would be an acceptable replacement.

"Not A Candidate"
He is "not a candidate to knock out Burch," Flanagan said. "He's not doing anything to get it."

But Flanagan said all top national Republican leaders except Barry Goldwater, the GOP presidential nominee who picked Burch as chairman, have endorsed the statement of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and Govs. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania, Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York Committee. Burch was the handpicked choice of Sen. Barry Goldwater, defeated GOP presidential nominee.

Bob Hope Overseas With Short Troupe For Holiday Shows

BUPYONG, South Korea (AP) — Bob Hope opened his 13th annual Christmas visit to American servicemen overseas today after nearly losing half of his troupe of entertainers.

A U.S. Army helicopter carrying Janis Paige, Les Brown, John Bubbles, and Jerry Colonna developed engine trouble and made a forced landing in a blinding snowstorm four miles northeast of Seoul.

Hope, unaware of the trouble, was traveling in a separate helicopter with Jill St. John, Anita Bryant, Anna Maria Alberghetti on Oahu and streams burst their banks on the neighboring Kauai Island.

Up to an inch of rain each hour was being measured on both islands, the U.S. Weather Bureau said, and more was predicted for today.

Goldwater, Miller, National Chairman Meet in Arizona to Talk About 'Internal Friction'

BY ROBERT K. WALKER
PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The big three of the 1964 Republican presidential campaign huddled overnight at the hilltop home of Sen. Barry Goldwater discussing "a little internal friction in the party."

National GOP Chairman Dean Burch and New York Rep. William E. Miller, Goldwater's running mate in the November election, flew into Phoenix Wednesday and planned to leave today.

They remained well out of reach at the Goldwater home overlooking Phoenix. A guard at the gate turned away newsmen.

"Internal Friction"
It was Burch who said the meeting was to discuss the "internal friction" issue and also his future as party chairman. "It's hard to have any kind of

Change Order In Pulpwood Price Case

MILWAUKEE (AP) — U.S. District Court Judge Robert E. Tehan has amended an order that would have allowed six persons to examine transcripts of testimony they gave to a grand jury investigating charges of price fixing in the pulpwood industry in 1961 and 1962.

The Justice Department had planned to take depositions from the six in connection with a pending civil price fixing suit brought in 1962. The grand jury was discharged in 1962 without returning criminal indictments against the six.

Under the judge's order of Wednesday, the Justice Department need not turn over the transcripts if it does not take depositions from the six or call them as witnesses in a trial. He said that if any of the six are called as witnesses, defense attorneys may again raise the question of access to testimony.

The six claimed the prosecution had an unfair advantage because it had transcripts of testimony in the secret grand jury hearings while the six could not remember details of what they had said.

The civil suit was brought against Badger Paper Mills, Inc., Peshigo; Kimberly-Clark Corp., Neenah; the Mead Corp., Dayton, Ohio; Scott Paper Co., Philadelphia; Peterson Bros. Co., Carney, Mich.; Merton D. Jensen, Charles W. Stoll and John L. Herbert, all of Escanaba, Mich.; and Eugene and Vincent Peterson of Carney.

Jensen and Vincent Peterson are two of the six who asked for the grand jury testimony. The others are Howard Palmquist, formerly of American Can Co., New York City; Robert Schmeling, of Mead; and H. L. Woodin and T. L. Christensen, both employed by Scott.

discussions without going into that," the Tucson, Ariz., attorney said.

He said he expects to remain chairman after a meeting of the Republican National Committee in Chicago Jan. 22-23, but he would not estimate how many votes of confidence he can count on. He termed this "useless speculation."

Private Letter
Another known topic of discussion was a letter Goldwater sent out asking some members of the National Committee to give their views on mistakes made during the past presidential campaign.

The letter, labeled private and confidential, sought off-the-record advice on how to hold the "hard core" of voters who backed Goldwater and yet bring more into the GOP fold.

The Arizona senator is working on a paper analyzing mistakes made in the campaign and suggesting corrections. Goldwater indicated he intends to present his findings to the National Committee meeting in Chicago.

Retain Core
"Our problem, as I see it," Goldwater wrote, "is to retain that hard core and add to it by enticing back into the party those Republicans who did not vote for the ticket, who did not vote at all, or who voted for the opposition."

Goldwater also said the November race would have been closer if "every Republican put his shoulder to the wheel." However, the senator said he time, she said, when "you can share many, many things you couldn't when your children are growing up."

"Guilty Feeling"
When the children were young, she said, it was hard to help her husband in politics and be a mother, too. "You have a guilty feeling half the time," she said.

Now, she said, she was very grateful that "it's this time of our lives." Mrs. Humphrey, 52, is a young-looking grandmother with short white hair.

Two of the Humphreys' four children are married and have sons won on the strength of symphonies of their own. They are Hubert III, known as Skip, who lives here, and daughter Nancy, Mrs. Bruce Solomonson of Minneapolis.

The other two Humphrey children are Douglas, 16, a junior at Shattuck Military Academy in Fairbault, Minn., and Robert, 20, a sophomore at Mankato State College in Minnesota.

Nancy has two daughters and is expecting a third child in March. Mrs. Humphrey hopes it will be her first grandson.

The three boys will be home today.

Can Share Much

Mrs. Humphrey Says Life Won't Change

BY MARTHA COLE
WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Hubert H. Humphrey doesn't expect her life to change very much when her husband becomes vice president.

"I think we're going to see more of each other than we have in a long, long time," she told a group of women reporters who gathered at her house Wednesday for coffee.

Humphrey's new position — away from the demands of being a senator — comes at a time, she said, when "you can share many, many things you couldn't when your children are growing up."

"Guilty Feeling"
When the children were young, she said, it was hard to help her husband in politics and be a mother, too. "You have a guilty feeling half the time," she said.

NATO Ministers to End Annual Review

U.S.-France Rift Over Nuclear Control Remains on Last Day

BY DAVID M. MASON

PARIS (AP) — The North Atlantic Treaty Organization ministers conclude their annual year-end review today with a rift remaining between France and the United States over control of the West's nuclear defenses.

The nuclear issue dominated the three-day conference of foreign, defense and finance ministers from the NATO countries.

The United States seeks to bring its allies into a multilateral force of surface vessels, with operation of the fleet — but not final control of its nuclear missiles — spread among participants. France is strongly opposed to the force and is going ahead with development of its independent nuclear defense.

Willing to Cooperate

France has said, that it is willing to cooperate and coordinate its nuclear force with that of the United States. The French repeated this Wednesday, saying they were willing to plan joint targeting with the United States while still retaining final control of their nuclear forces.

No date was set for French officers to join the Americans in deciding which nation's forces would retaliate against which Communist targets in case of attack. The work probably will be done at the headquarters of the U.S. Strategic Air Command in Omaha, Neb.

During the Conference both U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Defense Secretary Robert McNamara emphasized that the United States considers the defense of France and all the other European allies as important as defense of the United States against enemy attack. Their purpose was to counter French President Charles de Gaulle's contention that the United States in the event of war will give priority to its own continental defense and that Europe will come second.

Already Staggering

McNamara told the NATO Ministerial Council that the present allied atomic arsenal already is so staggering that new extensions of strategic atomic weapons can hardly be justified.

His implication was clear: the United States sees no need for other NATO countries to maintain independent nuclear forces, as the British and French do now.

Qualified sources said the United States has developed a system of atomic demolition charges in Europe that can be used to block any enemy advance toward the West. The location of the charges was not disclosed, but most or all probably are in West Germany.

Second Meeting

Rusk and De Gaulle met Wednesday for the second time this week and discussed the problem of spreading nuclear armaments. Rusk said they agreed that this danger has been intensified since the Chinese Communists exploded an atomic bomb.

But there was no agreement between the two on the issue of nuclear armament control, and the French president remained adamantly opposed to the U.S. idea of an integrated nuclear command.

Rusk and the foreign ministers of West Germany, Italy, Britain and the Netherlands tentatively agreed that a deputy foreign ministers' conference should be held early in 1965 to study the U.S. proposal for a nuclear force of surface ships, British proposals announced for a wider Atlantic nuclear force and any other ideas on the subject.

American officials stressed that the door would be open for French participation in any arrangement that eventually is worked out.

Insurance Plan Ads for Elderly Are Misleading

Schemes Being Presented More Frequently Now

BY SYLVIA PORTER

"One of the most pitiful and unscrupulous schemes to bilk the nation's elderly is the slippery health insurance plan offered more and more frequently by door-to-door salesmen, mass mailings and newspaper ads. protect yourself when you are buying health insurance:

Mail Order Ads

(1) Beware of mail-order ads which promise virtually unlimited benefits or "complete coverage" at extraordinary "bargain" rates.

(2) Beware of high-pressure door-to-door salesmen who use scare techniques to push you into buying.

(3) Do not sign any contract offered by a company unknown to you before you read all the fine print and before you thoroughly investigate the exact benefits offered, the exact costs involved, the limitations of the plan and renewal provisions.

(4) Make sure you know what coverage you will get and do not rely on a salesman's explanation of the coverage or on his comparison of your present insurance plan and the one he is selling. His word may not count for anything when you make a claim.

Cats Top Pet List of Small Home Owners

CHICAGO (AP) — The cat is crowding the dog for the affections of humans.

A recent pet industry survey shows cats now outnumber dogs by almost a million.

Pet owners now are demanding exotic-type cats as companions. They range from Siamese, Burmese, Himalayan, Manx, Abyssinian and Persian to striped tabby kittens. Many have blue-ribbon pedigrees.

The new interest in cats is due to the fact that cats make ideal pets for people who live in apartments or small homes.

Consider Risk When Planning

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

If you object to taking an occasional risk you'd better resign from the human race. You cannot completely avoid risk even if you stay in bed all day. The sensible course is to choose the lesser risks instead of the greater ones.

Declarer won the first trick in dummy with the ace of hearts and returned a low club. East played low, and South won with the king.

South thought of leading the next club from his hand, but couldn't guess whether to lead the queen or the low club. The low club would work in the actual hand, but the queen would work if East had started with A-x-x and West with J-x.

If East still had both the ace and jack South would have to lead clubs a second time from dummy.

The problem was how to get to dummy to lead the second club. It looked "safe" to lead a spade to dummy's king, but this play cost South his contract. East took the next club trick and fired back the king of diamonds to force out dummy's ace. This removed the entry to the long clubs, and South couldn't make nine tricks without bringing in the clubs.

Must Lead Diamond

After winning the first club with the king, South must lead a diamond to dummy's ace. East can take the next club and cash three diamonds, but then the defenders are through.

Even if the defenders are in position to lead a spade from the West hand after taking their diamonds (this would be possible if West had length in diamonds), South can win the spade in his own hand and clear the queen of clubs out of the way before getting to dummy with the king of spades. Dummy's last two clubs cannot be shut out.

It looks dangerous to open up the diamonds, but it is unlikely that either opponent has five of the six missing diamonds and also the ace of clubs. The diamond play is therefore less risky than the "safe" spade play.

Porter

Bureau, flashes a major warning to our 18 million citizens who are over 65 today and who are now a number one target for gypsters and quacks.

"Until a need arises, the victims are unaware of misrepresentations in the borderline health insurance plans," Ladimer added in an interview. "Only then do they learn that the doctor and hospital services are far more limited than they believed and that they have been fooled about big savings on X-rays, eyeglasses, hearing aids and dental care."

Reputable Companies

Of course, reputable companies meet the Federal Trade Commission's "guidelines" for mail-order health insurance plans and quality under all other of today's standards for selling and advertising of insurance — and, of course, the overwhelming majority of companies are reputable.

But in recent months bitterly disappointed buyers of shady health plans have been flooding Better Business Bureau offices, state and federal regulatory agencies with complaints about policies which may be within the letter of the law but which are unquestionably misleading.

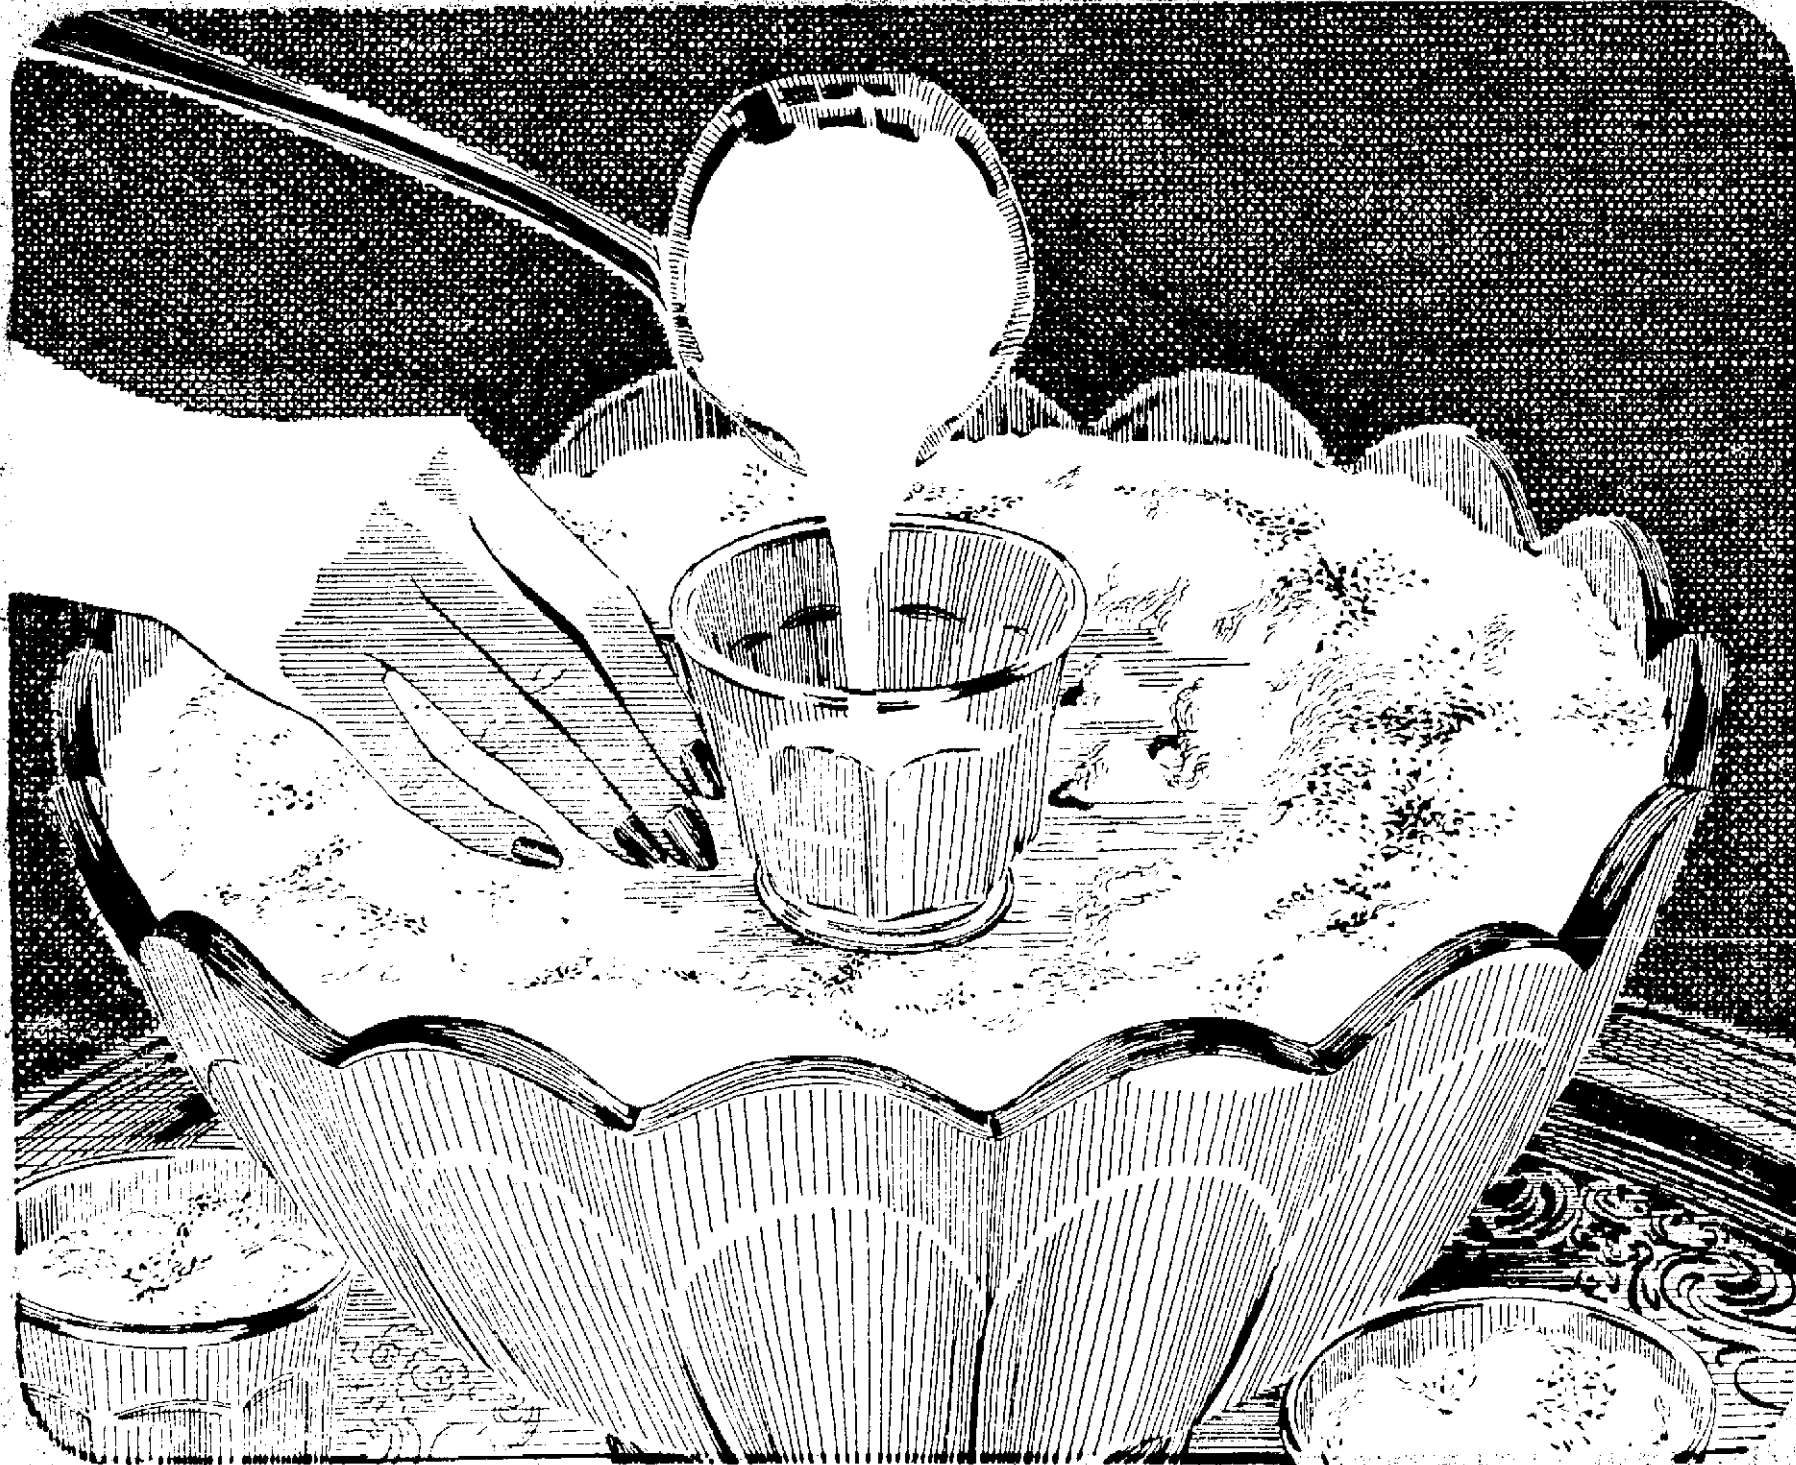

The complaints involve fly-by-night medical insurance outfits which go out of business before you can collect any benefits; gangs of itinerant insurance salesmen who operate primarily in "elderly citizen" communities and make unduly extravagant claims for the policies they peddle; mail-order plans which for a very low cost promise "benefits" which just aren't there when you read the fine print.

Facts Omitted

In the words of Senator Harrison A. Williams, who chaired recent Senate subcommittee hearings on frauds affecting the elderly: "Buyers can be misled as much by the omission of facts as by the deliberate distortion of facts; and buyers can be presented with so many facts that truths become lost. The sale of an insurance policy is too serious a matter to become a battle of wits between buyer and seller."

The dilemma for millions of our elderly citizens is very real. While it is true that health insurance coverage has been growing dramatically and many previously "uninsurables" are now insured, it is also true that for many older people, available and adequate insurance is way out of their price reach. This is why so many of our elderly fall for the "bargain" gimmicks of the borderline outfits.

A Senate subcommittee is now preparing recommendations for legislation that would clarify and tighten up the whole field of health insurance policies. The proposals will be introduced early in the new congressional session. Regardless of the fate of these proposals, though, there are rules YOU can follow to

Con Game Fails To Work; Three Are Arrested

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Dr. Samuel Weinberg told police he answered a call at an apart- ment Tuesday night and this happened:

The patient, dressed in a fil- my negligee, wrapped her arms around him.

Then a flashbulb popped and two men appeared — one with a gun, the other with a camera.

One of the men said he was the woman's husband and demanded $25,000 from the doctor. The doctor refused, started to leave, and was banged on the head. Stunned, he leaped from a second-story window.

Booked Wednesday by police on suspicion of conspiracy, ex- tortion and assault were Betty Jean Pascal, 41; Clifford Eu- gene Beavers, 36, and Ervin Harry Ross, 46. Police said the trio operated a con game in which Ross took the pictures.

Bail was set at $20,000 each. A preliminary hearing is sched- uled for Dec. 23.

Dr. Weinberg suffered glass cuts on his hands and arms.

New Congressman Visits Communities Missed in Campaign

CHILTON—Sixth District Congressman-Elect John Race, Fond du Lac, toured Calu- met County Wednesday and invited his constituents to ap- proach him on any problems concerning them.

In a noon luncheon with Calumet County Democratic Chairman Edward S. Eick, Race offered his serv- ices to county residents which might involve his new post.

Race said most of the larger metropolitan area in the district had been covered during the previous campaign and now he was trying to contact residents of smaller communities.

Oshkosh Student Hit By Car Is 'Serious'

OSHKOSH — A Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh stu- dent is in serious condition today at Mercy Hospital after being run over Wednesday night in a beer bar parking lot north of here.

George Zimmerman, South Wisconsin Rapids, the student, received a fractured back, possible internal injuries and lacerations to both knees.

Michael B. Grimm, 22, Al- mond, another WSU-O student, who was the driver of the car that ran over Zimmerman, was arrested today before Winne- bago County Judge James Sitter on charges of inattentive driving and hit and run.

Proceedings were adjourned, however, until Jan. 6 to allow Grimm's attorney time to ques- tion witnesses. Bond was set at $500.

Winnebago County police were at "The Keg," a beer bar north of Oshkosh on U.S. 45, to break up a fight that had been going on inside the building. Neither Zimmerman or Grimm were involved in the fight.

After the fight had been broken up, a policeman who was outside in a squad car saw long lot in midtown Manhattan at a city auction for $25. about 11:38 p.m. in what the policeman said was "a reckless sell it to a neighbor and maybe its rear wheels as it left the lot Jus. then, another youth ran

Reduction of Polluted Water To be Studied

Sulphite Pulp League Adds Assignment to Technical Research

Search for effective methods of reducing stream pollution from dilute pulp mill effluents is an added assignment given to the technical staff of Sulphite Pulp Manufacturers' Research League by the annual meeting of league trustees held Tuesday in the Conway Hotel.

The new studies include methods for non-pollutional disposal of such dilute materials as rinse waters and evaporator condensates. They will not affect the league's long-standing scientific concentration on utilization and disposal of full-strength spent sulphite liquor and other kinds of used water from pulp and paper mill operations. Annual rate of dues based on pulp tonnage produced by member mills was confirmed for the year ahead at the 1964 level, as was the staff research budget.

Officers re-elected by the league were Stanton W. Mead, president, president of Consolidated Papers Inc., Wisconsin Rapids; Loren V. Forman, vice president, vice president of Scott Paper Co., Philadelphia; John G. Strange, secretary, president of The Institute of Paper Chemistry, Appleton; Peter M. Chiuminatto, treasurer, manager administrative services of Charmin Paper Products Co., Green Bay; Jesse M. Holderby, technical committee, manager of Lake States Yeast and Chemical Division of St. Regis Paper Co., Rhinelander.

Newly elected to the league board of trustees and the executive committee was John W. Bard, vice president pulp and paper of American Can Company, Neenah. Chiuminatto was elected president and treasurer of Sulphite Products Corporation, succeeding Mead.

Santa Won't Work Just for 'Kicks'

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — There aren't enough Santa Clauses to go around this year, says Henry J. McCluskey of the Texas Employment Commission. He blames disgruntled youngsters. "There is a high incidence of children kicking Santas in the shins for not complying with requests registered in prior years," he said.

"The positions of Santa Claus — in such places as department stores and shopping centers — are not being readily taken. We've placed five or six, but we could have placed 15 or 20."

Let's EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By Sylvanus M. Duvall, Ph.D. and Evelyn M. Duvall, Ph.D.

IS COMPLETE HARMONY IN THE WORLD EVER POSSIBLE?

YES _____ NO _____

No, partly because what some cannot have him. Urban development, however desirable for man who builds his home on a choice site thereby denies it to others who might want it. If a girl marries a highly desirable man, it means that other girls inevitably conflicts must be worked out in ways that cannot satisfy everyone.

Do working women know what makes a woman reliable on the job?

Yes — No —

Yes, they agree pretty well that it is the woman's personal abilities and characteristics. A recent study found business and professional women listing such qualities as being dependable, imaginative, honest, conscientious, alert, sincere, cooperative, mature and responsible as those characteristics of women who could be counted on to work effectively. The scientists conducting the study conclude, "No employer could wish for more."

Do you agree that it is the person rather the fact of being a man or a woman that makes a good reliable worker?

How to buy an electric shaver for Christmas

1. Make up your mind to break the uncomfortable shave habit. No men should put up with a shave that's irritating or unpleasant day after day. Shaving should be convenient and comfortable. And today it is—with the comfort shave.

2. Talk to your dealer about electric shavers. He'll show you several brands. Most have blades which go back and forth. He'll point out that Norelco Speedshavers have self-sharpening rotary blades which go round and round.

3. Take a good look at those rotary blades. They're the secret behind the comfort shave. They whirl continuously — never "grab" the way ordinary shavers do — never cut or nick the way blades do — always give the comfort shave.

4. Ask about speed and closeness. Today's electric shavers all shave fast and with about the same degree of closeness. The important difference is in comfort. It's the difference between enjoying a shave or enduring it.

5. P.S. for the women. Did you know that women buy our hair clippers and electric razors sold in this country to give their men for Christmas? It's a fact. Another fact: Norelco's Flip Top is the world's largest selling shaver model — go to a Norelco, and you can be sure he'll like it.

6. Select your Norelco. New Norelco "Floating Head" Speedshaver 30 — self cleaning blades, heads "swivel" to fit your face. New Norelco "Flip Top" Speedshaver 20 — easy "flip top" cleaning. New Norelco Cordless Speedshaver 20C — shaves anywhere. All give the comfort shave.

Production of Steel Mills at Terrific Pace

Management and Workers Arguing Profit Division

BY SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP) — While steel workers and management argue over how to divide the profits, the mills turn out the ingots at a near record rate. And this is a major factor in pushing industrial production back on the high road after the auto strike forced it to the low road in October.

The car production lines also are back performing at a record clip. So the nation seems sure to enter the New Year with its industrial index continuing its long climb to new heights, after only a passing bobble.

The steel and auto industries play a commanding role in the industrial output total. They both reflect and increase general prosperity. And the public has become used to considering times good or bad on the evidence of activity at the car plants and the steel mills.

Production Lines
Their busy production lines feed general prosperity with money for wages and materials. And in return good times feeds the demand for their products.

In steel the long run of high production seems assured, by the backlog of orders, to extend through the first months of 1965. The problems have become delivery times and in some cases even allotments, and the hard bargaining sessions just starting between the United Steelworkers and the Union and the major companies.

The wage talks themselves are helping swell the demand for steel. Many customers are planning to build up inventories against the risk of a strike next May cutting off supplies and also against the possibility of higher prices as a result of gains the unions may make in wage scales or fringe benefits.

All fall the mills have been turning out more than 2.6 million tons each week. Not since early 1960 have the mills kept up that high a rate for so long a time.

Old Record
They have turned out more than 120.5 million tons so far this year, against 105 million tons in the same period last year. And they already have beaten the old record of 117 million tons for a whole year, set in 1955.

Most of the output has gone to fill the real demands of their customers, as apart from any strike-hedging buildup of stocks.

The customers have been booming for the most part, too. The auto industry, except for the crippling strike, was ready to set a record this year, and now talks confidently of producing eight million cars in 1965. The construction industry has been expanding, and taking more steel despite the inroads of competing materials. Appliance makers have had a good year and say they expect still higher production next year.

New Products
Together with other industries especially in the soft goods fields, steel's customers have pushed the industrial output to

Annuities Gain in Popularity And Buyers Enjoy Longer Life

DEAR CY:

How about a deep down personal opinion on annuities? What do you think of this form of investment? Better than putting money in common stocks?

—BREEVOORT

DEAR BREEVOORT:

An annuity is not an investment in the strict sense. Breevoort. It's a means for distributing capital and interest at a set rate during an individual's life . . . starting at a certain time. Whereas common stock values and dividends can yo-yo due to economic conditions, the income from an annuity is guaranteed. No juicy capital gains possibilities, but no wringer worries either. Annuities as a form of financial security are gaining in popularity. Last year 6.6 million annuity contracts were in force. Ten years earlier, the total was 4.2 million. An annuity can be of the immediate or deferred variety. The "immediate" pay-out begins when an annuity is bought from a life insurance company. With a deferred one, it's buy (or start buying) now and stand by for payments later . . . often until death parts the annuitant and the insurance company. Currently 75 per cent of the annuity pay-out goes to Americans 65 years of age and older. One interesting aspect of annuities is the Internal Revenue service's penchant for deferring taxes on annuity payment checks. Thus, if an annuity is bought for $15,000 and pays you $100 monthly, you won't have to pay taxes on the income. With $40,000 invested in common stocks, yielding 3 per cent in dividends, the $1,200 annual income would be taxable. Common stocks have their points of excellence, naturally, and each has its niche in the financial world. P.S.: Owners of annuities manage to live 5 years longer than those who don't. How else can you buy a few squirts from the fountain of youth? —CY

DEAR CY:

With new photographic and printing processes, I am told counterfeiting money is becoming more common. Is the business of passing bills without detection actually increasing?

D.A.Z.

DEAR D.A.Z.:

Our counterfeiting industry has experienced significant growth in volume without commensurate profits. During the past decade, this business has increased eleven-fold to an estimated 32-million dollars annually. (Exact figures don't seem to be available.) Secret service agents have kept pace with technological advances in draining lush profits from funny money. Business consultants still agree . . . the big money in money is manufacturing it in nature's slow, old-fashioned way. —CY

DEAR CY:

We operate the store on a hand-to-mouth basis. This has been going on for two years, and nobody is getting rich. I tell my partner it's time we went for broke or broke into some profits. Any comment? —PILE

DEAR PILE:

Hand-to-mouth buying is as dangerous as hand-to-mouth financing. After 24 months, it's time you had a foot-in-mouth talk with your banker. —CY

Jammed Recorder Alarms Policemen

DEERFIELD BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Police sprang into action Wednesday night after they were told a person with a slurred, drunken-sounding voice had answered the phone at the railroad station after it closed for the night. Thieves have broken into the station several times recently. Three squad cars roared to the station. They found nothing. The telephone company was called in. The culprit was a tape-recorded answering device that had jammed at a slow speed.

Sam Houston Gets Replacement Toe

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Sam Houston has his left toe back. Argentine sculptor Luis Bartholome Somoza fixed it this week.

The statue of the Texas revolutionary hero lost the toe to a vandal some time ago. Houston was a U.S. senator and Tennessee governor who came to Texas and led the revolution against Mexico. He became president of the Texas County Historical Survey Committee was seeking an artistic toe doctor. He came at his own expense and fixed the toe without charge.

FAT OVERWEIGHT

Available to you without a doctor's prescription, the ODRINEX plan. You must lose ugly fat or your money back. One of the basic problems of losing weight is your inability to stick to a planned diet. The ODRINEX plan contains a tiny tablet and is easily swallowed. When you take ODRINEX, you simply don't have the urge for extra portions because ODRINEX depresses your appetite and decreases your desire for food thus making it easier and more comfortable for you to diet. Your weight must come down because as your own doctor will tell you, when you eat less, you weigh less. ODRINEX can't do all the work for you alone. But if you really want to cut down on your eating, and lose weight ODRINEX can be a powerful helper. The ODRINEX plan costs $3.00 and is sold on this guarantee: If not satisfied for any reason just return the package to your druggist and get your full money back. No questions asked. Forlornly Stands This Christmas Tree

BY RAY PY

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

What mysterious hand has put the Christmas finery on the lonely evergreen of an abandoned farmhouse south-east of Appleton?

What holiday spirit prompted the twisting of the Christmas tinsel, the hanging of the silver and red ornaments? Where are the merry-makers who long ago twined the green limbs with colored ribbon?

Once sparkling silver, the tinsel is tarnished now and a lonely series of three silver ornaments hang from a limb.

Winds and foul weather have made shambles of the red and green ribbon.

Streamers Still Wave
While streamers still wave in the wind, but they are ragged now and would be gone too, had they not become entangled in the tinsel and limbs.

They lend a shabby Christmas spirit to the tired farmhouse behind them. Scattered across the uncut lawn are remnants of other ornaments, tinsel and holiday decorations which long ago gave up their place on the tree and clattered to the ground.

The winds which have blown apart the Christmas decoration now move freely through the windowless and doorless farmhouse.

Strange Noises

High winds at night tear unmercifully at the hanging barn door and make strange noises in the barnyard.

Neighbors have offered that the house is a playground for countless children. Abandoned two years ago, there has been little effort to repair the home and barn and the property has fallen into the destructive hands of the very young and the not so young.

One neighbor recalls seeing "large groups" of children running wild through the house. Some, she said, had guns and shot out the windows.

They have climbed with abandon on the rusty farm equipment in the barnyard and have played countless games upon the framework of a once-worthy sea craft stored there.

Abandoned Ornaments
Last fall, one neighbor recalls, the lonely evergreen got its holiday trimmings from a group of young people who, exploring through the house, came across the abandoned ornaments, the strands of tinsel and ribbon.

The young people must have taken the ornaments to the front yard and in a youthful spirit of adventure, decorated the tree there.

Why did they do it? The neighbor didn't know, but she concluded it must have been because they didn't have anything else to do with the stuff.

Long ago when the home was occupied, other neighbors recall, there was no decoration in the trees and whatever is there now must have been put there by the children.

But near the base of the tree, covered with dirt and debris, now weather-worn and useless, a small leather baseball glove lies like it had been placed there long ago by a mysterious giver of gifts.

Flat Bed Wagon Makes a Nice Toy for Small Child

BY CAPPY DICK

A handy boy can make the flat-bed toy wagon shown in Figure 3 as a gift for a small brother or sister who will use it to haul toys from place to place. You will need two empty thread spools (Figure 1) and a piece of board about nine inches wide and 14 inches long (Figure 2).

Saw the spools in half. Each half will form a wheel of the wagon. Use nails as the axles. Nail Heads

The heads of the nails must be large enough to keep the spool halves from slipping off. Slip the nails into the spool holes, then hammer the nails into the sides of the board (Figure 3).

Do not pound the nails so far they prevent the spools from rotating as the wagon is pulled along the floor.

Attach Cord

Attach a cord to one of the ends of the wagon so the child to whom you give it may easily pull it.

Show the youngster how to load toys on the flat-bed and haul them around. He'll have fun with this easily-made gift.

Perry Como Goes to Rome For Christmas

BY TV SCOUT

9-10 (Channel 4-5) — The Christmas editions of The Perry Como Show are always among the best on television, and this year Perry has his best. Taped in Rome and Vatican City, it is a magnificent and reverent musical tour of the city. Roberta Peters sings in the gardens of the Villa d'Este. Burr Tillstrom, Kukla and Ollie entertain the youngsters at Boys' Town of Italy. The Sistine Choir, appearing by special Vatican permission, sings "Regina Coeli" and "Christus Natus Est" in the Vatican Gardens.

6-30-7:30 (Channel 5) — Daniel Boone presents a spooky tale which has a "ghost" asking Fess Parker to guide him to the Mountain of the Dead. Leslie Nielsen, who how up the next day to extend the same invitation to Parker, obviously isn't a ghost.

7-30-8 (Channel 11) — My Three Sons has a very funny episode. Mike (Tim Considine) is about to meet his future father-in-law for the first time. The man, in the imposing person of Sebastian Cabot, is a world-famed archaeologist who has been out of the country two years.

7-30-8:30 (Channel 4-5) — Dr. Kildare examines whether a doctor has the right to tell a dying patient the facts and remove that last faint hope of survival in order to obtain a seemingly cold-blooded, cut-and-dried piece of death-bed testimony, admissible in court.

8-8:30 (Channel 11) — Just like My Three Sons before it, there is in-law trouble on Bewitched. Dick York's parents come to meet Samantha at the same time Elizabeth Montgomery's doorknob-collecting, befuddled aunt Marion Lorne drops down the chimney.

8-30-9 (Channel 2) — Vince Lombardi Show.

8-30-9 (Channel 11) — Peyton Place returns to the troubles of George and Julie as George's aggressions come to the fore when he sees Julie talking to Leslie. Meanwhile, Elliot's parole hearing is getting closer, and Laura is prying into Dr. Morton's medical abilities and... but you get the idea.

9-10 (Channel 2) — You get the feeling author Robert Crean is trying to deliver a message in "A Voice Loud and Clear" on The Defenders. The only trouble is you can't figure out what it is. The slow-moving script is about a lady evangelist (Shirley Knight) who claims to hear voices, and who kills a man (her former husband) at their urging.

9-10 (Channel 11) — George Kirby's impressions of Jose Jimenez, Count Basie, Katharine Hepburn, Charles Boyer, Wallace Beery and Sammy Weyauwega numbers are located in the back.

After Sunday, Waupaca subscribers will be able to call Weyauwega toll free.

UW Center Students To Present Christmas Story Friday Evening

Nativity Retold in Work by H. L. Zillmer;
Music by Choir Under Franklin Doverspike

BY JINGO

Old yet ever-new is the classic description of love and the greatest love story of all — the story of the Nativity at Bethlehem — certainly is a classic example of this description.

In the light of this definition, the Fox Valley University of Wisconsin Center will mount a telling of this great love story at 8:15 p.m. tomorrow at the center's Fine Arts Room.

The traditional story will have a new setting of words and music for Friday's performance. Larry Zillmer, head of the fine arts department, has provided this new setting in writing a reading he described as "modern poetic."

Work Subjective His approach is based on a subjective continuity in which he attempts to look both forward and back from the lowly birth in a stable.

Based on the beautiful words of the Luke Gospel, Zillmer has interlarded the story with prophecies and happenings from the Old Testament and dramatic incidents from the Passion.

Five readers will present Music-Drama program with the performing in the tradition of Fox Valley Center Chorus and the reading theater with cos-Fine Arts Club Players, 8 p.m., tunces, make-up and special lighting.

Christmas Concert—(Friday night) Fox Valley Lutheran the reading and giving the High School Band, Choir, Student performance texture and brilliant Chorus and Concert Choir, liance will be the center's 43-8 p.m., FVL High Auditorium, voiced vested choir under the

The chance to view their work should fill the auditorium and since the concert is being presented without charge, missing it would be very much of a pity.

Kicking Is 'Straightened Out'

Hornung Says He's Good For 3 or 4 More Seasons

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — like a golf swing. It gets out of Sleepy-eyed and yawning. Paul Hornung came home for the holidays Wednesday and predicted he's good for three or four more years in the National Football League.

Hornung, after an all-night drive from Green Bay, Wis., also disclosed that he will not undergo surgery for a pinched nerve in the neck.

"It bothered me greatly this season," said the Green Bay Packer halfback, "but I expect to take diathermy treatments for it this winter."

Although he wound up as the fourth high scorer in the NFL this season, Hornung expressed disappointment that he didn't do better. "The year's layoff made a lot of difference," he said. He said he noticed the differences in timing, conditioning and in the edge that only regular competition can give.

The 28-year-old Louisville native didn't play in 1963 because of a suspension.

Hornung, who developed a serious deficiency in his kicking after returning to the Packers, said "it's all straightened out now. It was one of those things

BY TERRY GALVIN
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

The Dick Emanuel-coached Appleton High School cage unit, with its starting five averaging 66.1 points-per-game, eyes its fourth Fox River Valley Conference victory at 8 p.m. Friday when Green Bay Southwest invades the Terror domicile.

The Terrors boast an overall mark of 5-1 for the season with the lone setback coming in FRVC action against Sheboygan North. Southwest is winless in five starts, including four FRVC dates.

Pace-setting Oshkosh (4-0) invades Manitowoc in the loop's feature. Coach Don Erickson's Indians, voted a much lower (seventh) berth in pre-season prognostication by Valley sportswriters, has yet to meet the "big four." Oshkosh tangles with Appleton, Green Bay East and West, in order, following the Manitowoc game.

Big Surprise

Bruce Weber has been the big surprise on the "cinderella" Oshkosh squad. Weber, at 6-4 and 215, is the lone Indian to hit double figures in each of the six engagements. The Indians are 5-1 overall. Manty is 4-2.

The remainder of this week's schedule sends Fond du Lac to East Friday and South to North Saturday.

The Terrors are just one point shy of boasting a starting unit that averages in double figures. Mark Tepper, who encountered foul trouble against Green Bay West, was limited to two points, and, with 59 points in six games, has a 9.8 average.

Bruce (Moose) Miller heads the list with 100 points for a 16.7 per-game effort. John Mummie, the smallest starter, at 5-9, is next with 86 markers and a 14.3 average. Bob Ness (with 65 in five games) is hitting at a 13-point clip while Neil Weber rounds out the starters with a 12.3 average. Weber has tallied 74 points.

Praises Weber

Emanuel, in addition to praising the work of Tom Jooss in the spectacular comeback victory over Green Bay West, cited the rebounding efforts of Weber as a key factor in the second half explosion.

The Terrors rallied from a 42-33 halftime deficit to a convincing 77-66 win in the West 53rd Saturday.

Jooss is the top bench man.

Hardin and Navy Reported Ready To Part Company

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — The Naval Academy and football Coach Wayne Hardin part company today after a contract dispute which lasted 10 days.

The Academy scheduled an afternoon news conference to make a formal announcement, and indications were the coach would be on hand.

It seemed almost immaterial whether it would be phrased that Hardin was resigning, or was being dismissed from the head coaching post he has held for six years after four as a Navy assistant coach.

It is generally known he did not quit willingly. He has said several times since the dispute became known publicly last weekend that he was satisfied with the five-year contract he signed last Feb. 18 and wanted to continue under it.

The final conference with Academy officials on the issue ended Wednesday night in Baltimore with lawyers present for both sides.

Reports circulated that the coach was extremely dissatisfied with the terms arrived at, but Hardin could not be reached for comment.

It is a pleasure to announce that

Marquette, Wisconsin Quints Share Rebounding Problem

Both Teams To Appear in Classic Friday

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Coaches John Erickson of Wisconsin and Al McGuire of Marquette were both troubled by rebounding errors that led to defeats as they prepared their teams for Friday night's opening games in the third annual Milwaukee Classic Basketball Tournament.

Marquette will meet unbeaten defending national champion UCLA in the first game and Wisconsin will play Boston College in the second. Losers and winners will pair off in Saturday night's games.

UCLA and Boston College were scheduled to arrive today, and both planned workouts in the Arena. UCLA called a practice session for 5 p.m. and Boston College two hours later.

McGuire said UCLA had to be considered the tourney favorite, and Erickson said the visiting clubs both appear tougher than Wisconsin and Marquette.

Badgers Spanked

The Badgers were spanked 70-56 by Illinois in the Big Ten season opener at Madison Tuesday night and Marquette bowed 72-61 to Valparaiso.

"We wanted to beat Illinois for the most part, to playing outdoors—there are only a few indoor rinks in the Soviet Union—in temperatures ranging from the low 'teens' to below zero.

In contrast, a temperature of 55 degrees is normally maintained in the Arena, which may tend to slow down the Soviets, who are likely to have some trouble adjusting.

There is little hope of wearing down the Russians, it should be rated pre-game favorites, the added, because their hockey players always are among the world's most superbly conditioned athletes.

"For example," Don Clark, vice president of the Amateur Hockey Association of the United States, points out, "when I was traveling with them on New Year's Day in 1959, they insisted on finding a soccer field in which to practice, a very

Confidence Cited by Bakken as Essential Ingredient of Kicking

Former Badger Says Cardinals Prefer To Play Packers

BY JOHN IGLEHART

MADISON (AP)—"The Lord gave me a strong leg," said young Jim Bakken by way of explaining the talented toe which produced 115 points and boosted the St. Louis Cardinals to second place in the National Football League's eastern division.

Bakken, former University of Wisconsin quarterback, and his Cardinal teammates finished one game behind the Cleveland Browns and by virtue of their 9-3-2 record will meet the Green Bay Packers in the Playoff Bowl Jan. 3 at Miami.

Aside from his heavenly assets, the 24-year-old kicker, who could seemingly pass for a blond Rock Hudson, credits "a whole bunch of confidence" for his elevation to one of pro football's most proficient field goal and extra point specialists.

"I can't tell you how much that confidence means," Bakken said. "It means a lot and some times it means the difference between winning and losing."

Bakken referred to his fifth field goal in last Sunday's game against the Philadelphia Eagles. The 19-yard field goal kicked off a right leg that swings like a violent pendulum, came with 22 seconds remaining and gave St. Louis a 36-34 victory.

Not Cocky

"You aren't cocky, but you're sure and this all goes back to confidence," Bakken said as he reset the scene of the winning kick. "You come off the bench with a free mind and do the job you've already done four times before that day."

"If we had had a poor season and a poor record everything might have been reversed, but that's another story," said Bakken.

A third-year man who was obtained by the Cardinals after the Los Angeles Rams discarded him in his rookie year, Bakken will go to Miami as one of only four men who have kicked five field goals in an NFL game. His distinguished company includes Ernie Nevers, Bob Watterfield and Roger Leclerc.

Bakken returned to his hometown of Madison after the last game and within earshot of enemy Green Bay territory will wait out the 10 days before the Cardinals regroup in Miami.

How does it feel to come back to Packerland as a Cardinal?

"Just great," Bakken replied while taking a few minutes from his job at a local sporting goods store where many of the customers come in to visit "our Jim."

Prefer Green Bay

"We'd prefer to play Green Bay instead of the Minnesota Vikings because of (quarterback) Fran Tarkenton," Bakken said. "Green Bay basically still is the team they've been, but we believe we can beat them."

How does a specialist feel warming the bench much of the time and then being called on to produce during those few seconds he plays?

"It's something like a relief pitcher in baseball," said Bakken. "You're sitting but you've got to be mentally prepared."

"You get into the enthusiasm of the game and roll with every tackle even though you miss most of the contact," he continued.

And then that inevitable question asked of everybody who has ever kicked a pigskin: what has happened to Paul Hornung?

"He's lost some of his confidence," said Bakken. "I'm positive he is the same fine kicker as in the past."

"His mind isn't free because most times he has to worry about who he's supposed to block or where to run. That's not one of the things a specialist has to worry about."

Jim Bakken, Center, whose field goals and extra points produced 115 points and second place for the St. Louis Cardinals in the National Football League's Eastern Division, is working in a Madison sporting goods store while waiting for the Playoff Bowl in Miami Jan. 3. St. Louis will meet the Green Bay Packers, runnerup in the Western Division, in the Playoff Bowl. (AP Wirephoto) game one, in the third and then hurled an interception "shut-out."

Starr boosted his career (nine seasons) completion total to 1,032 and his yardage total to 13,874. Starr now has thrown a total of 1,818 passes, which is just short of Rote's 89.

Rote came to Green Bay as a rookie in 1950 and played seven seasons before continuing his career in Detroit, Canada and San Diego. He plans to retire after the current season.

Starr broke in under Rote in 1956 and then shared the quarterbacking with Babe Parilli the next two years. He became the Pack's No. 1 quarterback midway in the 1959 campaign, winning the job from Lamar McHan.

3-Season Average

Starr has been nicked for only 23 interceptions in the past three seasons—an average of just over 7 per campaign.

"I've always made an extra effort to keep them down. An interception is a mistake and we try to keep all mistakes at a minimum," Starr pointed out, and then added with a smile: "I'd trade 10 more interceptions for that last one against Baltimore."

Starr referred to the interception by Don Shinnick that cut off a comeback for what might have been a game-winning field goal in the final moments here Sept. 20. The Colts won the game 21-20 and then went on to win 10 straight and the championship.

with 16 points. Dennis DeCock has scored 12 and Gary Volkman, 11.

Coach Jerry Eckman's Trojans have found the competition rather stiff in their first year of conference play.

There are no lettermen on the squad. In fact, only three players have had junior varsity experience at other schools.

With similar prospects on the gridiron, the Trojans surprised the Terrors, 28-26, in the only meeting of the school's athletic teams.

Larry Mann, a member of the victorious Trojan "11", is the leading member of the basketball squad with an average of 10 points per test.

East's Pat Harrington is the current FRVC scoring leader with 92 points for a 23-point average. Manitowoc's Jim Chermak and Bob Sullivan are next in line with 87 and 80, respectively. Chermak is averaging 21.8 while Sullivan is hitting 20 points a game. No other individual boasts an average of 20 or more in FRVC play.

Miller is tops for the Terrors, ranking seventh in the four FRVC tests with a 15.3 mark. Mumme is 10th at 14.3, and Weber, 12th at 12.5.

Evelyn Myers cracked a 562 threesome, including a 203 singleton, to set the pace in the 5-Minus 2 Bowling League at the Sabre Lanes.

Other honor scores were Sally Schommer, 530; Elaine Krueger, 517; Pat Lutz, 509 and Ann Hoyer, 508. Sabre Lanes (23-7) holds a 4½-game lead over Hahn's.

and those are the ones that really count."

Erickson said he told the Badgers that in order to beat Illinois they had to control the boards and hold the Illini to fewer than 69 shots.

Illinois got only 67 shots but they beat the Badgers in rebounding 65 to 20.

"Getting beat that bad on the boards and grabbing only a couple of offensive rebounds all night seems downright impossible," said Erickson. "You'd think we'd get hit on the head with more offensive rebounds than we pulled down."

Erickson also said, "If that's the best we can do you can write us off for the rest of the season." But he quickly added, "We have men who can go up and get the ball. We just weren't jumping and Illinois took charge."

Erickson said that while Mark Zubor was working from the outside on his shooting to take scoring honors with 30, he was screened off the boards on rebounds by lanky Skip Thoren.

"It was up to our corner men, Ken Barnes and Dave Roberts to get in there, and they didn't," said Erickson. Barnes got only three rebounds and Roberts two in the Badgers first loss of the season.

McGuire said, "Our lack of rebounding killed us. Paul Carbins didn't get started until the second half and Tom Flynn never did get going."

Hurt by Fouls

He said the Warriors also were hurt by the number of offensive fouls—"I think we lost the ball 16 times. We were caught on so many charging fouls."

The loss at Valparaiso, McGuire said, resulted in "the first time I've really been down in the dumps this season." He said the Warriors played a good second half "but we just didn't put out in the first half."

If the Warriors are to do anything against UCLA, McGuire said, "We'll have to get a good game from three or four boys instead of just one or two."

His most effective players

Tuesday, he said, were guards Bob Wolf and Rocke Calvelli.

"When you lose," McGuire said, "there are never many bright spots but Wolf and Calvelli handled the ball well and more than held their own."

In a search to add punch to the Warriors, who are 2-3, McGuire said he was thinking of moving Flynn from forward to center and added, "We might use a twin pivot."

Gilchrist Unanimous
AFL All-Star Choice

Buffalo Places Six
On Team; Boston,
San Diego 5 Each

BY MIKE RATHET
NEW YORK (AP) — Despite serving time on the waiver list, Buffalo fullback Cookie Gilchrist was the only unanimous choice on the American Football League All-Star team named by The Associated Press.

Gilchrist, one of six Bills on the team picked by a 24-man panel in the eight league cities, was the only player on either the offensive or defensive units to get all the votes and regained the fullback spot he lost to Oakland's Clem Daniels last season. Involved in a mid-season hassle with Coach Lou Saban that resulted in his being placed on the waiver list, Gilchrist proceeded to make amends, rejoined the team and put himself into position to become the first player in the league's history to become a two-time 1,000-yard ground gainer.

Needs 71 Yards
Gilchrist needs 71 yards in Sunday's key game against Boston that will decide the Eastern Division title. However, he figures to have tough going against a Patriots' defense that had three men named to the All-Star team.

In all, Boston placed five men on the team as did San Diego's Western Division champions.

Besides Gilchrist, the Bills placed tackle Stew Barber and guard Billy Shaw on the offensive unit and tackle Tom Sestak, linebacker Mike Stratton and safety George Saines on the defensive team.

Boston's contingent includes quarterback Babe Parilli and guard Billy Neighbors along with the three defenders — end Larry Eisenhauer, middle linebacker Nick Buoniconti and safety Ron Hall.

Alworth Named
San Diego's five includes flanker Lance Alworth, Keith spot, offensive tackle Ron Mix, defensive end Earl Faison and Ernie Ladd, the 6-foot-9, 321-pound defensive tackle.

Kansas City placed two men on the team and New York, Houston, Oakland and Denver one each.

Fred Arbanas at tight end and cornerback Dave Grayson were the Chiefs' representatives. Cornerback Larry Grantham made it for the Jets, receiver Charley Hennigan for the Oilers, center Jim Otto for the Raiders and cornerback Willie Brown for the Broncos.

Otto has been an All-Star for the five years the league has been in existence.

Ten others were repeaters from last year — Alworth, Lincoln, Mix, Barber, Shaw and Arbanas on offense and Faison, Sestak, Eisenhauer and Grantham on defense.

Three Rookies
No rookies made the first team but three made the second group of 22. Matt Snell of New York was selected as the No. 2 fullback, Boston John Morris was named the center and Houston's Pete Jaquess picked at corner back.

ARD Holiday
Program Sets
Team Record

Meets Start Dec. 23;
Free Throw Test
Slated Saturday

The boys free throw contest finals will launch the Appleton Recreation Department's annual holiday sports program.

Winners in the fifth, sixth, seventh, eighth and ninth grade and high school free throw classifications will be decided in the Madison Junior High gym Saturday afternoon.

The girls' free throw contest is scheduled for Jan. 2 in the Morgan School gym.

Tournament play begins Wednesday, Dec. 23, with the boys basketball meets at Edison and Jefferson schools and girls dodgeball at Morgan School. The various tournaments have drawn 20 more teams than the ARD's previous highest registration.

The only boys cage tourney not slated for a Dec. 23 start is the ninth grade event. The only two teams entered will meet Dec. 29 in the Jefferson gym.

The 10-team high school, the 7-team eighth grade and the 11-team seventh grade tourneys are set for the Jefferson gym. The 12-team Sixth grade and the 10-club Fifth grade meets are set for the Edison gym.

The sixth and fifth grade dodgeball tourneys, which attracted 16 and eight teams, respectively, will open play Dec. 29 in the Lincoln gym.

The 4-team girls basketball tourney starts Dec. 28 in Morgan School. Twenty-five teams will compete in both the girls kickball and dodgeball tourneys at Morgan. Dodgeball play opens Dec. 23, and kickball starts Dec. 26.

SUPREME COZINESS
Walk in the front door of this unusual home and you'll lose yourself in the warmth and coziness that is prevalent throughout. The mammoth 16 ft. high living room fireplace seems to speak out and say, "sit down and enjoy yourself." The knotty pine paneling gives the feeling that you're hundreds of miles from nowhere. The unique kitchen is mother's dream. The open stairway with the balcony overlooks the living room adds a picturesque touch. Besides the two bedrooms and bath upstairs there is a bedroom or den and bath on the first floor, all in keeping with the warm theme of this home.

New London's Teen-Age Curfew Ordinance Takes Effect Friday

Police Will Wait Until Monday Before Enforcing New Law, Chief Algiers Says

NEW LONDON — Although the new teen-age curfew, adopted by the city council this week, goes into effect Friday, strict enforcement of it will not start until Monday, according to Police Chief Jack Algiers.

The curfew makes it unlawful for anyone under 18 to loiter or remain on any street, alley or other public place in the city between the hours of 10 p.m. and 6 a.m. Sunday through Thursday and between midnight and 6 a.m. Friday and Saturday, unless the youngster is accompanied by his legal guardian or person that has custody of him.

The curfew will not affect any youngster in lawful employment making it necessary for him to be in the business place after curfew hours.

The curfew makes it unlawful for the person having custody of the youth to have him violate the provisions of the curfew.

Anyone believed violating the curfew will be taken to the police station and held until parents call and sign for his release.

Algiers said parents would be notified immediately when their youngster is brought to the station.

Council Alters Old Ordinance

New London Won't Take Loan for Well Construction

NEW LONDON—The city council Tuesday night dropped a section of an ordinance on street surfacing and rescinded a resolution for a construction loan for a pumping station.

Rescinded was a resolution for a general obligation $50,000 promissory note for construction of a new well, a pumphouse and pump house equipment.

The June 2 resolution was for a well at the Douglas Street site. It was rescinded by an unanimous vote. The city-owned utility reported it would not need funds to finance construction.

The council unanimously repealed section 1(d) of the street surfacing ordinance.

The pay schedule outlined in the 10-year-old ordinance has not been enforced and was repealed. It only covered street surfacing classified as seal coating, oil turnover, blacktop, but mix blacktop and concrete only. It does not affect curbs and gutter work, covered under same ordinance.

Mrs. Norman Kawell New London Hospital Auxiliary President

NEW LONDON—Mrs. Norman Kawell was elected Community Hospital Auxiliary president at a Christmas party Monday, succeeding Mrs. Wilmer Schlafer.

Also elected were Mrs. Fred Bernegger, vice president; Mrs. William Stern, secretary, and Mrs. Roger Metz, treasurer. They will be installed at the January meeting.

The club presented a $2,500 check to the hospital as part of its building fund pledge. Nearly $1,250 of the money was raised at a Christmas bazaar and smorgasbord earlier in the month.

Employees Extinguish Fire in New London

NEW LONDON—The New London Fire Department received a call to the Barn-O-Matic Co. at 2:17 p.m. Wednesday. The gasoline fire had been extinguished by company employees by the time firemen arrived.

Sewerage Service Needs Studied for New London Area

Request State Board of Health Order to Serve Out-of-City Firm

NEW LONDON—As part of the city's 20-year master plan, New London officials are studying areas outside of the city where sewage treatment service may have to be provided in future years.

Since the city is considering expanding its sewage treatment plant and related sewerage facilities, the city council decided at its Tuesday night meeting that city officials should know any areas the plant may have to serve, so it can be planned accordingly.

Donohue and Associates, Sheboygan, consulting engineers for the city, is investigating the possibility of having the Quality Packing Co. plant, located south of the city in the Town of Hortonville, joined to the city sewage system.

State Order Robert Jones, a Donohue representative, has written to O. J. Muegge, state sanitary engineer, to ask if there is a possibility of having New London get a state order to treat waste from industries outside the city limits.

Mayor Wilmer Schlafer told the council that since there is a possibility that in the future the city may have to provide utility service to areas outside the city, it would be wise for the board of public works, the board of health and the planning commission to meet for a discussion of problems caused by sewage expansion.

Tests were taken last month at the city sewage plant, the Mayor Wilmer Schlafer told the council that since there is a possibility that in the future the city may have to provide utility service to areas outside the city, it would be wise for the board of public works, the board of health and the planning commission to meet for a discussion of problems caused by sewage expansion.

Court Upholds Rail Crossing Rulings

City Can Complete Extension Of Street; 6 to be Barricaded

BY WILLIAM C. CAREY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer
Two Wisconsin Public Service Commission (PSC) orders relating to Appleton railroad crossings were upheld Wednesday by Judge Edwin Wilkie in Dane County Circuit Court, Madison.

Judge Wilkie, who presided over lengthy and complicated litigation involving the City of Appleton, Chicago & North Western Railway Co. and a group of Appleton business firms, affirmed the PSC orders that:

—Authorized the city to establish new grade crossings for the Washington-Franklin Street extension, a major project which is more than half completed.

—Granted the railroad permission to permanently barricade the Pierce, Locust, Bates, Hancock, Charlotte and Winnebago-Union Street crossings.

Officials Pleased City officials, for the most part, were pleased with the court's decision.

More than $300,000 has been invested in the Washington-Franklin project to date, including land purchases in recent years.

The city started the street construction after the PSC handed down its decision earlier in the year, taking the chance it would hold up in court.

There is now the possibility the portion of Franklin Street already graded and graveled will be open to traffic this winter. Paving is scheduled for the spring of 1965.

The city and railroad have been involved in a legal dispute for several months over old and new crossings.

Railroad Objected When the hearing on the street extension was held, the railroad objected to establishing any new crossings. It in turn petitioned the PSC to close 12 existing crossings in the city.

The PSC issued an order in August which allowed the North Western to close only six crossings.

In the meantime, the city appealed to the court to set aside the PSC order to close any crossings, and the railroad started litigation to have the order establishing the Washington-Franklin grade crossings reversed or modified.

The railroad had already closed three crossings when the city obtained an injunction restraining it from closing the others.

Waupaca Jail Committee to Choose Between 2 Architects

Buildings Designed by Green Bay, Monticello Firms Will be Inspected

WAUPACA — The field of possible architects for a Waupaca County jail building was narrowed to two at a building committee meeting Tuesday night.

Six architects were interviewed by the committee, and members decided to inspect the work of John W. Steinman, Monticello, and Robert Surplice, Green Bay.

Other architects who indicated an interest in designing the new jail were McMahon, Engineering, Menasha, Hacker, Schroeder Architects, La-Crosse, Lawrence Monberg and Associates, Racine, and Donald Schoepke, Wausau.

Inspect Jails Members of the committee will go to Wausau and Oconto Friday to inspect county jails designed by the architects chosen at Tuesday's meeting. Before the February county board meeting, when the committee will make its report, visits also will be made to the Sparta and Menomonee jails.

Three possible building sites also were discussed at the meeting, all including one of 16 acres, are within the Waupaca city limits. Approval of the site also will be asked at the February board meeting.

V. A. Verhulst, state jail inspector, was present when the architects were interviewed. Verhulst recommended the new jail contain at least 30 cells, however, some of the committee members recommended at least 34 cells.

County-City Building No discussion was held on the possibility of a county-city building Wednesday Verhulst said, he had no objection to such an arrangement. He did say, however, that he will not allow any stalling on construction of the new jail. "The board of supervisors will be held to its decision at the November session to construct a jail as soon as possible," Verhulst said.

Because of the continual crowded conditions at the jail, Verhulst said he is keeping a close watch on the progress being made in constructing adequate facilities.

Wednesday 14 prisoners were being held, five over the capacity figure set by the state.

Hoosiers Tour New School in Kimberly

Group Includes Educators, Builders From Indiana

KIMBERLY — Thirty educators, electrical contractors and architects from Indiana visited Kimberly High School Tuesday under a program arranged by the Indiana Power and Light Co.

Plans for a visit to the school were started early this year and about 12 visitors were expected, but as word spread, more and more educators expressed a desire to tour the school so a private plane was chartered for the one-day trip.

Among the visitors was an assistant state superintendent of schools in charge of all school construction in Indiana. After touring Kimberly's facility, he said it could bring changes in future school design in Indiana.

Educationally Sound Four professors from Indiana universities said the building was educationally sound and permitted more academic freedom than conventional designs. Architects were impressed with the use of color in the building and the lack of windows.

Serving as tour guides were Ray Hamann, superintendent of schools, and Greg Temmerman, Kimberly High student. Following the visit a luncheon was served guests at the Wisconsin-Michigan Power Co. Appleton, at which time Hamann answered questions about the school.

Since the school uses extensive electricity for its lighting and heating systems, John McLean, representative of power company answered technical questions on the heating and lighting system.

Patient Total Increases 87 to 2,583 at Calumet Hospital

Births Drop to 430 During 1964; Patient Days at Record Levels

CHILTON—A total of 2,583 patients, 87 more than in 1963, were treated at Calumet Memorial Hospital during the past year, a report presented at the annual meeting Wednesday night indicates.

Births at the hospital decreased 36, from 466 to 430 this past year, said Mrs. Viorene Bittner, medical record librarian.

Total patient days increased 1,548 from 13,223 to a record 14,771 in the past year. In line with this the average stay of the patients jumped one day, from five to six.

Expanded Facilities

Fred Eggers, administrator, said the reason for this is the expanded facilities and the increased space allowed the physicians to keep the patients longer to better insure recovery.

Outpatients rose 558 from 2,664 last year to 3,212 this year.

Seventy-four deaths, four less than last year were recorded at the hospital. The majority occurred in the 81 to 90 year age group.

Tests Increase

Vern Gonzo, head of the laboratory reported a 1,741 increase in tests from 24,646 last year to 26,387 this year.

X-rays also marked an increase, from 2,385 to 3,045.

Surgical work, reported by Mrs. Catherine Gehl, jumped 55 from 1,055 to 1,110 with 274 being major surgery and 377 minor. 128 emergency operations were reported with the special emergency room for accidents and other emergencies numbering 572.

60,000 Meals

A total of 60,336 meals were served at a cost of 68 cents per meal compared to 52,088 last year costing 67 cents each, Mrs. Mary Belle Kobriger, dietitian reported.

In the laundry a total of 177,250 pounds of materials were cleaned at a cost of six cents a pound. Last year 151,000 pounds were washed at seven cents a pound. One of the major reasons for the drop was the installation of all new laundry equipment with the new $750,000 addition completed in mid-year.

To meet a $27,000 deficit in operations this year, room rates were upped $2 per day. Semi-private rooms are now $17 per day and private rooms, $22 per day, Eggers said.

Municipal Workers Get Wage Increase

11 to 7 Vote by Appleton Council Ends Long Dispute With Teamsters

A 14-month city-union wage dispute was settled Wednesday night when the Appleton city council granted municipal employees a general pay increase for 1964, retroactive to Jan. 1.

After lengthy debate, the council reaffirmed its informal action of a week ago and concurred in the recommendation of a Wisconsin Employment Relations Board (WERB) factfinder.

It means that an estimated 400 city employees, excluding elected officials, are likely to receive back paychecks ranging roughly from $90 to $145 in time for the Christmas holidays.

Contingent Fund Money

In granting the Teamsters Local 563 members a 3 per cent boost for salaried employees and seven cent boost for hourly paid workers, the council also included more than 300 non-union municipal workers.

The general wage hike will cost the city $59,800 this year and $64,900 in 1965. While ample funds are not available in the salary budget to meet the 1964 expenditure, it was disclosed there is more than enough to cover it in the contingent fund.

However, aldermen informed the Teamsters and Firemen's unions, not to expect another salary increase next year.

Contract negotiations for 1965 had been delayed pending settlement of the 1964 dispute.

There was significance in the council's 11-7 approval of the factfinder's recommendation in that the personnel committee's report—calling for 1.3 per cent and three cent per hour raises—was in effect rejected.

After having $70,000 earmarked for raises in 1964, the personnel committee earlier in the year granted $35,000 in merit increases and fringe benefits. However, in negotiations with the union over a year's time the committee refused to offer Local 563 any increase.

Knowles Picks Ken Priebe as Liaison Officer

Former Appleton
Alderman Retiring
As Assembly Clerk

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON—Kenneth E. Priebe of Appleton, retiring chief clerk of the State Assembly, today was named by Republican Gov.-Elect Warren P. Knowles as legislative liaison officer for the state executive department starting Jan. 4.

The 52-year-old politician comes into his new assignment after long experience as a member of the Appleton City Council, the Assembly, and as chief administrative officer of the lower house of the legislature for the last four years.

Priebe will be relieved of his post in the legislature when the 1965 session convenes as a result of Democratic capture of

Factfinding Requested

Originally the union asked for 15 cents an hour, but months later on the day of a factfinding hearing lowered its demands to 10 cents. When the union and committee became deadlocked on 14 issues, first the Teamsters and then the city requested WERB factfinding.

On the day of the hearing, and in a matter of hours, 12 of the 14 issues were resolved—leaving wages and retroactivity as the last major obstacles to a settlement. Testimony was taken, arguments were made and briefs filed.

Attorney Philip Marshall, the factfinder, then arrived at his recommendations which were accepted by the union and rejected by the personnel committee. Ald. E. V. Kraeger (11th), committee chairman, and Ald. Mrs. Dorothy Stilling (7th), who did considerable research for the committee, have since been openly critical of the factfinding.

The city hired special legal counsel and paid half of the factfinding expense.

'Great Society' To Get Started In January

'Modest Beginning'
For Johnson's
Major Programs

BY JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson dined 'till it into American heads that he wants to build the "Great Society" but he never said exactly how and he never quite said when.

He still hasn't given details but this week, after he called in a group of reporters to let them interview him provided they didn't quote him, it was clear he thinks the Great Society will be many long years in the making.

Since last April he had dwelt on the Great Society theme repeatedly, although not recently, pledging his administration to build it. He mentioned three places to start: in the "cities... countryside... and classrooms."

One of his foundation stones, to be offered the new Congress in January, will be medical care for the aged — a plan tied to Social Security. Others will be road-building programs and funds for health facilities in mining areas.

Modest Beginning
This is a modest enough beginning for a man who did so well in the November election which also gave his Democrats overwhelming control of congress. He has been extraordinarily un-noisy for a victorious politician.

But the explanation is that he doesn't want to waste any of the good will and influence he won through pressure tactics or unnecessary conflicts. In short, he seems bent on following a very moderate road.

He wants to avoid the pit President Franklin D. Roosevelt fell into when, after his tremendous election triumph in 1936, he damaged his effectiveness badly, particularly in Congress, by his fight in 1937 over reshaping the Supreme Court.

Another Side
There's another side to that story. The court in Roosevelt's first term wrecked one New Deal program after another. But after Roosevelt began his fight the court — through resignations, new appointments and no doubt great self-consciousness—swung around to Roosevelt's side.

Johnson, despite his caution, may stumble into the same pit of unpopularity but in the opposite way if he is faced with an issue that badly needs fighting but tries to avoid it.

More than any president in this century — with the exception of Dwight D. Eisenhower who in eight years never really said anything to make people mad at him — Johnson for some time should have the least trouble with Congress.

Knows Congress
He knows the congressional mind, having been part of it himself so long, and accomplished a great deal as a Senate Democratic leader by the technique he seems bent on following now: the soft approach and compromise.

Compromise, of course, means an absence of sensational victories.

After watching Johnson for years it is this writer's belief his philosophy of achievement is based on making progress through an accumulation of limited advances instead of on a few sensational triumphs.

In this way he can hope — although both the liberal and conservative sides may be angry when each doesn't think it got enough or one thinks the other got too much — neither will have ground for enough irritation to be an enemy.

Duke of Windsor Is Progressing Well
HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The Duke of Windsor, operated on for the removal of an arterial blister the size of a large grapefruit, is making rapid progress toward recovery.

Dr. Michael DeBakey, who performed the abdominal surgery, said the former King Edward VIII of England should be on his feet today and out of Methodist Hospital within two weeks.

The duke, 70, relinquished the throne 28 years ago to marry the former Wallace Warfield Simpson of Baltimore.

Within eight hours after his operation Wednesday the duke had chatted with the duchess, teased his nurse and discussed his surgery with Dr. DeBakey.

Supreme Court Rules on Civil Rights Law

The United States Supreme Court's unanimous decision upholding the constitutionality of a challenged section of the 1964 Civil Rights Law extends the interstate commerce power of Congress. The decision was in keeping with interpretations of that power by the court over the last several decades entirely aside from any racial issue. But the current emphasis upon unequal opportunities between the races had an influence upon the court's decision.

Two cases had been appealed to the Supreme Court. One involved an Atlanta, Ga., restaurant, the owner of which had been charged with violation of the new law by refusing to serve Negroes. A district court agreed that there had been a violation. The other case concerned an Alabama restaurant prosecuted on the same charge but in which a district court had ruled that employing the interstate commerce power of Congress was too farfetched since the restaurant served local patrons and purchased much of its food in Alabama. The Supreme Court held that both places must comply with the law and not discriminate as to customers because of race.

The government's counsel went even further about the application of the interstate commerce power than did the Court's decision. Segregation in general has created "a very real national commercial problem," he said. Because of this, Congress should be able to step in to regulate even absolutely local affairs if it can be shown that a burden is created on interstate commerce. Since there is very little indeed in business or industry or even in social affairs not somehow involved with other states, this sort of interpretation could be far-reaching indeed.

However, the Supreme Court has indicated that some of its decisions are based upon the needs and demands of the times rather than upon legal precedence. This "social" type of jurisprudence has been heavily criticized and certainly has its limitations. But a court of any kind cannot operate in a complete vacuum, set aside from human affairs. At present, racial inequalities are a serious cause for concern in many aspects of American life and the court's decision was certainly determined in part because of this knowledge.

The court also ruled that demonstrators, arrested in sit-in protests against local segregation ordinances or practices in southern establishments, must be freed. But this was a five to four decision and we are inclined to agree with the minority. Many of the demonstrators were arrested before the Civil Rights Act was passed. We have disagreed with the local ordinances and practices but they were legally adopted or of long standing. In effect the court has made the Civil Rights Act retroactive. It has also presumed to suggest that a law can be broken with impunity if an individual correctly guesses that it is to be overturned in the near future.

The moral right of an individual to oppose or to break a law which he thinks wrong or contrary to his conception of human right and dignity has almost always been upheld in practice in the United States. But the legal right to do the same thing now has some basis. We agree with the majority opinion that "there is no public interest to be served in the further prosecution" of the demonstrators. But is upholding the legal right to break a law really in the public interest?

In general the Civil Rights Act has been implemented throughout the south, with the exception of Mississippi and some parts of Alabama, with far less trouble than was expected. The Supreme Court decisions should now serve to encourage compliance with the new law as well as to remove much of the need for demonstrations.

Face Cleaning for the Capitol

The State Building Commission is struggling with demands for new construction which could well double the state's long-term indebtedness in the next biennium. But one expenditure it authorized recently will be applauded by most Wisconsin citizens. It has appropriated $100,000 to give the state's capitol building at Madison its first thorough face cleaning since it was completed in 1917, and to correct any faults uncovered in the stonework.

Wisconsinites can well be proud of their magnificent capitol. It is acknowledged to be among the notably beautiful public buildings in the world. Its dome is among the greatest, standing only 18 inches less in height than that of the national capitol, a difference its builders intended in deference to Washington.

The quality of materials which went into the structure was the best and its structural workmanship superb. It is currently undergoing extensive interior modernization. It was built to last forever, and with proper care it can.

The sight of the capitol dome as one approaches the city, the impressive picture it presents when illuminated at night, especially in this Christmas season, are inspiring even to the native Madisonian. Removal of the grime which its granite has accumulated in almost 50 years will greatly enhance its splendor.

Acheson's Views on Foreign Policy

When Dean Acheson was President Harry Truman's secretary of state, he made some errors in judgment, the most famous and most serious when he inferred that the United States would not fight to protect freedom outside of a specific area. The suggestion at least contributed to the attacks in Korea, in the opinion of some historians.

But in recent years Mr. Acheson has had some sound advice for Americans in the diplomatic service. A recent talk given at Amherst discussed the relevance and place of moral ideas to foreign policy.

In a way, Acheson's statements have been misinterpreted. He did not say that morality should be scrapped or that there is no place for dealings on a high moral level among nations. But he spoke of the need for what he called a strategic approach rather than a small tactical one.

"A good deal of trouble comes from the anthropomorphic urge to regard nations as individuals and apply to our national conduct vague maxims for individual conduct. . . . the fact is that nations are not individuals: the cause and effect of their actions are wholly different; and what a government can and should do with the resources it takes from its citizens must be governed by wholly different considerations from those which properly determine an individual's use of his own."

Our over-all foreign policy aim should be the highly moral one "to preserve and foster an environment in which free societies may exist and flourish." Acheson says that in foreign policy "only the end can justify the means but this is not to say that the end justifies any means or that some ends can justify anything." But we must look at the realities of the world today. "Is it moral to deny ourselves the use of force in all circumstances, when our adversaries employ it, under handy excuses, whenever it seems useful to tip the scales of power against every value we think of as moral and as making life worth living? It seems to me not only a bad bargain but a stupid one. I would almost say an immoral one. For the very conception of morality seems to me to involve a duty to preserve the values outside the contours of our own skins, and at the expense of foregoing much that is desired or pleasant, including—it may be—our own fortunes and lives."

Maxims like self-determinism if always clung to can work against a moral foreign policy, Acheson points out. He cites the use of self-determinism by Hitler in the Sudetenland for a wholly immoral purpose. And certainly in more recent months it has been used in questionable fashion in such areas as West New Guinea, the Congo and Viet Nam. In our opinion the policy of nonrecognition of governments upon which we frown is another example of an excess of enthusiasm about what should be in contrast to what is. Of course we must work toward the ideal of freedom and justice around the world. But we cannot help that cause by permitting our values to be debased by sharp operators who have no moral values at all. And the world is full of such operators, on an individual and national level.

Mr. Acheson has spoken of the problem of being realistic while maintaining ideals only on a national and international level. At the risk of doing what he criticizes, we must also face the problem on an individual level. Our confusion over how to stop the various outbreaks of senseless violence is an example. We know that the causes cannot be cured by reprisals or prison or tough police. But we also know that the moral values of the innocent are threatened by violence that only force can restrain.

The remarks by Acheson are similar to the realistic, hardheaded and very moral discussions and talks given at the various seminars of the Council on Religion and Foreign Affairs held at Lawrence University in recent years. They represent a deep understanding of American leadership in the world today and the difficult conditions under which that leadership toward free and responsible societies must labor.

There is scarcely a family in the land but what consider a supply of this article as necessary to the household as their flour or provisions. Bombing of Supply Routes Aimed At Pressuring Reds to Negotiate

BY ROBERT S. ALLEN AND PAUL SCOTT

There is a great deal more politics than war behind the impending bombing of Communist bases and supply routes in Laos and North Viet Nam.

Real purpose of these "limited and carefully controlled" air attacks is to induce the Reds to negotiate, and not to expand this protracted and increasingly costly conflict.

In other words, special intensified military pressure is to be exerted to bring about a particular diplomatic objective.

This explains the administration's apparent backing and filling on such bombing strikes; one day talking tough in on- and off-the-record comments, the next soft-pedaling the same way.

Publicly, President Johnson wants to convey the impression of pursuing a forceful policy. At the same time, he is anxious to avoid precipitating a general war.

It's a risky gamble, and whether he can get away with it remains to be seen.

That's the way the "new strategy," devised during Ambassador Maxwell Taylor's recent "consultations" here, was expounded by a top White House assistant to a group of congressional leaders. At an undisclosed briefing, he told them:

"The President wants to apply enough military pressure on the North Vietnamese to get them to the negotiating table. We're going to have to toss a few firecrackers up north to ascertain whether it's possible to bring about a confrontation that would open the way to a negotiated settlement we could live with."

To further press this backstage aim, the legislators were informed, the following was decided on:

—Secretary Rusk to explore and cheapest remedy in the world.

25 YEARS AGO

Mrs. Carl Foresman was elected worthy matron of Fidelity Chapter, Order of Eastern Star. She succeeded Mrs. A. H. Wickesberg.

Mrs. Elizabeth Buerth was named oracle of Royal Neighbors of America at Kaukauna the previous evening.

Miss Ceil Hoodlin was in charge of the teachers' Christmas card party at Park School, Kaukauna. Winners at cards included Miss Dorothy Schultz, Miss Ruth McAfee and Miss Lottie McCarty.

10 YEARS AGO

The Menasha High School Chorus was preseting "Amahl and the Night Visitors" at its Christmas concert. In the leading roles were Bill Hutchins as the king, Mary Peters as the mother and Bruce Miller as the child Amahl.

Dr. Stephan Konz, Appleton, was elected chief of staff at St. Elizabeth Hospital the previous night. Dr. Walter S. Giffin, Appleton, was named vice president and Dr. George Behrke, Kaukauna, secretary-treasurer.

every diplomatic channel in an effort to persuade Hanoi and Peking to come to a conference table.

Through intermediaries to convey to the Communists a proposal to broaden the talks now going on in India between the U. S. and Cambodia into a regional East-West parley for reaching a settlement on South Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia.

The bombing of Red bases and supply routes to be confined strictly to targets approved in advance by Washington. Wholly excluded from such attacks are North Viet Nam's industrial areas. They will continue to enjoy immunity as "privileged sanctuaries."

The Joint Chiefs of Staff agreed to this "new strategy," but questioned its effectiveness. They voiced doubts it would accomplish its purpose.

The military leaders pointed out that in the Korean conflict, where the U. S. dominated the air and enemy supplies were transported by rail and highways, bombing operations, at the most, only delayed and never halted Communist attacks.

In Laos, where jungle trails and primitive dirt roads constitute the supply routes, the Joint Chiefs contend "limited and carefully controlled" air interdiction will have even less effect. In their opinion, direct massive bombing of North Viet Nam's communications, airfield and industrial centers is necessary to bring the Reds to terms.

Preparations for the air raids already are well underway.

"Radio spotters" and "intelligence gatherers" from South Viet Nam's special forces have infiltrated into Laos to pinpoint troop movements and supplies from North Viet Nam along the Ho Chi Minh Trail—or "Highway No. 9," as it appears on some U. S. military maps.

A likely target is the Tchepone airfield.

The attacks will be made by T-28 armed jet trainers, and B-26 World War II vintage bombers. They will be manned by Vietnamese crews.

U. S. Air Force and Navy jet fighters will fly cover for these strikes.

It is deemed probable that Red Chinese jets may attempt to retaliate. In that event, the U. S. fighters will intervene to protect the South Viet Nam planes.

MORE FOREIGN AID PER-VERSION

U. S. aid to Cambodia is being extensively used to enable Communist Viet Cong forces to infiltrate gravely imperiled South Viet Nam.

Intelligence reports reveal that the U. S.-financed and installed communications system of Cambodia's national police is playing a key role in the movement of the Viet Cong across Cambodia into Laos and from staging areas there into Viet Nam.

Numerous messages disclosing this shocking perversion of a U. S. aid project have been intercepted by U. S. and South Viet Nam monitors. They also reveal that Cambodian police, trained by the U. S., are acting as guides for the Red guerrillas.

Unpublished State Department records show that the Cambodian police communications system cost U. S. taxpayers $3,791,000.

The money came from foreign aid funds voted by Congress. As described in the State Department's files, the project was for a "counter-insurgency program to assist the Cambodian government to develop a centrally controlled and administered national police force."

As installed by the U. S., the expensive communications system includes a "fully operated radio network; an efficient transportation system; a nationwide traffic control system."

Documents found on Viet Cong prisoners, routed through Cambodia into South Viet Nam, reveal that both the communications and transportation systems—whose equipment was provided by the U. S.—are used by the Communist infiltrators.

Higher Education in State Is Ambitious Compared to Others

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
MADISON—In the atmosphere of financial crisis that now surrounds so much of the discussion in Wisconsin government about the evolution of higher education services, the careless listener might get the idea that this state is niggardly or unduly conservative in that sphere.

Wyngaard

The fact is, and it is abundantly obvious on the record to anyone who has the slightest interest, that Wisconsin state policy in providing higher educational opportunity to those who are worthy and capable of making some effort to attain it can only be called generous.

The other day a University of Wisconsin news release related, perhaps with pardonable pride, that its enrollment is now sixth highest in the country. This is a small state in population, in economic resources, and by other measures. Yet the university is able periodically to publish such comparisons, including a more significant annual comparison of high rank in the number of doctoral degrees granted.

AND MORE
The development of the independent system of state universities around the state during the last decade can only be described as dramatic.

News branches and extension centers are being built, and others are planned at a pace that is more ambitious than is the growth in any of the other vital services of the state. Some of the political leaders are visibly flinching at the cost implications. There will be grumbling about excessively ambitious expansion designs. But in the end most of what is now being blueprinted will be achieved. The politician in Wisconsin has not yet appeared on the scene who will willingly go down in history as the man who stood in the way of the ideal that every eligible boy or girl in Wisconsin should have the opportunity for higher education according to his taste and talents.

There may be some scaling down in the frills and fancies, under the sheer force of necessity. It is, indeed, difficult even for the most sympathetic listener at the budget deliberations today to avoid some doubt about how the financial accommodation of these demands can be achieved. There are likely also to be some new directions, as in the greater emphasis upon occupation-related instruction beyond the high school about which the newly elected Republican administration is talking.

Some of those developments may be displeasing, because they may be competitive, to the leaders of the classical educational programs.

LIBERALITY

But in the inevitable heat of the discussions and the competition for the scarcer taxpayer dollar, the citizen in the ranks should remember two important things about Wisconsin higher education:

No eligible student is being turned away, in spite of a flood of matriculations that would have shocked the typical legislative finance committee into insensibility a decade ago.

No really determined and eligible student who wants to attend college in Wisconsin need be deprived of the opportunity, if he is willing to make a commitment on his own behalf to share the liability of the taxpayers.

The Wisconsin student loan program, as a budget discussion at the capitol dramatically showed again the other day, is a generous one by any definition. With the exception of graduate students in some of the more demanding and costly divisions of the universities, young men and women who are willing to sign their names to state loans and pick up modest earnings during their school holidays can attend college if they are determined to do so.

The student loan program, indeed, is perhaps the best proof of the liberality of the Wisconsin state government in this regard, and the enlightened initiative of some of its recent leaders.

To Define Love Is Often to Diminish It

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Purely Personal Prejudices: Most melancholiacs are obscurely proud of the fact, and look upon their chronic depression as evidence of more spiritual profundity than their "shallow" contemporaries; they mistake their temperamental defect for an intellectual superiority.

Harris

To define love is to diminish it—just as to try to describe God is to delimit Him; which is why the ancient Hebrews quite sensibly banned any reproductions, any statues or portraits, of the Almighty, as a form of idolatry.

Nearly a century ago, Nietzsche wrote: "In every party there is someone who, by his overdevout expression of party principles, provokes the rest to defect." Rather a pity that the Republican Convention of 1964 did not heed these prophetic words.

Evil attracts the weak by seeming to confer an aura of power upon them; but since the essence of weakness is that it cannot control itself, it cannot long control any power it assumes for itself.

Men will sacrifice themselves to save a nation, but no nation will sacrifice anything to save mankind; nations ask their subjects to demonstrate a nobility that they themselves would never venture—and this is what makes peace on the political level so nearly impossible.

My recent piece on "conscience" prompted a reader to remind me of Pascal's finely ironic observations on that subject: "Men never do evil so fully and so happily as when they do it for conscience's sake."

The man who spends his life overcoming obstacles in order to achieve repose is customarily made restless by the very repose when he gets it; after a time, our means, if they are strenuous and habitual, become ends in themselves, and leisure turns out to be more of a burden than combat.

No bureaucrat is government more officious than a minor hospital functionary, who really thinks the hospital "belongs" to the officials rather than to the public who supports it.

To imagine that one can change a husband or wife after marriage is as ludicrous as to imagine that a waterfall can be made to run up if we stand on our heads long enough.

The best way to resolve an argument is to allow the other to taste the consequences of his fallacious proposal; this is also the most expensive way, and few of us are forbearing enough to pay the price.

"In the last resort" is the favorite expression of people who are too quick to pass over less ultimate resorts.

Potomac Fever— by Jack Wilson

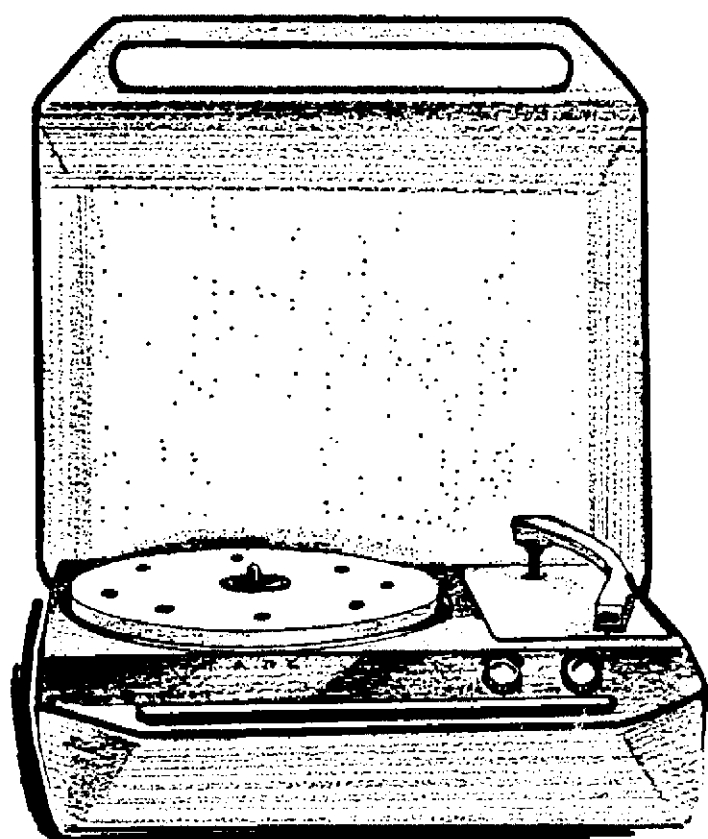

Ike says the Republicans should have two leaders, one to act and one to talk. It's too much to expect one man to make all the mistakes and explain them too.
